Not Gladiator For the World?

The text for today is the new and bitter pronouncement out of Washington.

"We will fight
as a unit in collective defense of Indochina, but we are not going to play gladiator for the world."

On the island of Formosa, where the ruins of a great dream rest, Chiang Kai-shek must be remembering old and painful scenes.

In the death agony of the fortress called Dien Bien Phu, men are dying and many hopes, maybe yours and mine, will be buried with them there in the distant and once beautiful valley.

And in Washington an angry and resentful Congress awaits the return of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

The United States has just suffered a serious diplomatic defeat at Geneva and in Europe. With presidential sanction Dulles publicly proposed a united action front against communism in the battle area before he knew whether he would have the essential support of the French, the British and the American Congress.

The British refused. The French demanded more air aid.
And in Washington a somewhat shocked and startled Congress exploded into acrimonious debate.

Meaning

Our best military minds believe loss of Indochina will mean all southeast Asia will fall to communism.

Loss of Dien Bien Phu will not decide the war from the military viewpoint. It may well determine it from the psychological.
Many of our military and diplomatic leaders want to "go it alone" with use of atomic weapons to neutralize the vast jungle areas with radioactive materials left by use of atomic weapons.
They never considered a jungle warfare of ground troops.

The British said no. They argued that the battle for Asia could not be won with troops or guns. An idea is on the loose—independence. And thus far the Russians have been able, because they could espouse the side of the rebels opposing French rule, to make it appear that communism is the way to independence.

We suffered a diplomatic defeat, and put all the Western world in a defensive position at Geneva by making our plan public without knowing what we faced. The administration, torn by the McCarthy show, where a shrewd and ruthlessly ambitious man is on the prowl for great personal power, failed properly to gauge the temper of the Congress.

The Congress—like the people—continues to think of Indochina as nothing more than "defense of a French colony."

Weakness

All at once we begin to see our own weakness.

We are internally sick because of what McCarthy has done to us. We have lost, and let none think this isn't true, the very essence of America and of freedom—that of not being afraid to speak our mind and to stand up for what we believe—even though it be unpopular.

We also begin to learn a lesson.

In the clamor from the Congress against any move in Indochina, there are voices which damned previous administrations for "losing China."

Let's face it.

We lost China in exactly the same way Indochina is going to be lost.

Where are the wise men who were so angry at the loss of China to the Reds?

We lost China because Chiang Kai-shek did not have the support of the Chinese people. There were not enough of his troops who had the will to fight.

The only way we could have saved China was by putting a million or so men and a great air force in China to do the fighting. The American people have been sold a shoddy piece of goods that somehow Roosevelt, Truman and Acheson
"threw China away."

Let the people look well at Indochina.

It, too, is going to be lost. And for the identical reasons Chiang Kai-shek was defeated.

With our internal strength sapped, and with our international strength frustrated, it is time the administration thought less about November and more about May.

Talmadge, Arnall May Enter Races

By M. L. ST. JOHN

Former Gov. Arnall and Gov.
Talmadge, potential opponents for the U. S. Senate in 1956, Tuesday loomed as prospective candidates for state offices this year.

Arnall may jump into the expanding field of gubernatorial candidates. Now that Commissioner of Agriculture Tom Linder has become the sixth candidate, Arnall said: "I am watching developments with very keen interest."

Talmadge announced he may run for commissioner of agriculture. He said he is seriously considering it, and will announce a decision before the entries close.

This statement caused other Talmadge administration figures to postpone entering the race for the agricultural post. Clark Gaines, secretary of the Department of Commerce, said he would not announce his decision for a few days.
State Milk Control Chairman Charlie Duncan already had announced before the governor issued his brief statement.

Talmadge and Arnall are seeking means of building and retaining their political strength for the next two years in preparation for the expiration of Sen. George's term.

Although they wouldn't be after the same post in event they decide to run for state offices this year, Talmadge and Arnall could be expected to throw obstacles in each other's paths.

Linder and Talmadge said they have made no political alignment.
Some observers saw the possible Talmadge candidacy for agriculture commissioner as an opportunity to avoid making a choice among friends in the gubernatorial field. Talmadge would be busy with a campaign of his own. Lt.

U. S., Britain Approve Asia Defense Talks

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution
GENEVA, May 4.—United States and British leaders now have agreed to start politico-military talks on defense of Southeast Asia.

Agreement to this effect has been reached between Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary and Secretary of State Dulles.
The latter, who left here yesterday for Washington, will be able to report to President Eisenhower and to congressional leaders a marked improvement in Anglo-American cooperation in the past three days.

Details of where the new talks are to be held or who is to participate, have not yet been decided; the agreement itself is still basically a clear understanding between the top foreign policy makers for the United States and Britain. But, it is firm and it is expected, moreover, to lead to serious progress in securing Southeast Asia from Communist takeover—either by attack or by subversion.

Eden and General Walter Bedell Smith, who has taken over direction of the U. S. delegation here since Dulles' departure, met today. The two men are said to have worked out a considerable measure of agreement on an international guarantee for a negotiated settlement in Indochina.

Textile Worker Sobs Story of Street Slaying

A husky, balding textile worker Tuesday sat in a third floor cell at City Jail crying hysterically and branding the fatal shooting of a 16-year-old Marietta youth "a nightmare I'll never forget."

Charges against the man, Homer J. Dooley, 28, of 876 Jefferson St., NW, will be carried before the Fulton County grand jury Friday. Detectives M. W. Blackwell and M. A. Johnson said.
Dooley is presently charged with suspicion of murder.

Dooley, accompanied by his wife, walked into police headquarters early Tuesday and surrendered. He said a friend at the Exposition Cotton Mills, where he worked the morning shift, told of reading in the newspaper about a youth being killed
Saturday night at Spring and Harris streets, NW.

"My God," Dooley said he exclaimed. "I fired a gun Saturday night at Spring and Harris streets." He said he went immediately to his foreman and obtained permission for his wife and himself to be absent from their jobs to come to police headquarters.

McCarthy's FBI Report A Mystery

How'd He Get It? Probers Demand

By W. H. LAWRENCE
New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Sen.
McCarthy's possession of a classified FBI report posed a new mystery tonight for Senate investigators of his row with the Army.

The new controversy developed after the failure of Republican peacemaking efforts designed to end the hearings this week.

The four Republican committee members, with the assent of Sen.
McCarthy (R-Wis.), proposed to limit the public testimony in the controversy to that of McCarthy and Secretary of the Army Stevens, who still was on the witness stand when the ninth day of hearings concluded late today.

OPPOSE CURB

The three committee Democrats, backed up by the Army, opposed this limitation, and the Republicans refrained from using their power to order such a course of action by a 4-to-3 vote.

McCarthy offered the FBI report, marked "Personal and Confidential" and dated Jan. 26, 1951, to back up his claim that Army officials continued during the Eisenhower administration to disregard and ignore what McCarthy said were FBI warnings of the "tremendous danger" in allowing certain employees to remain on top secret radar projects at Ft.
Monmouth, N.J. But McCarthy conceded that the report was delivered before Stevens took office.

Senators directed their special counsel, Ray H. Jenkins, to inquire of J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, whether the letter was authentic and whether it properly could be introduced publicly into evidence.

WONDERS HOW

Joseph N. Welch, counsel for the Army, declared that Mc-Carthy's possession of a classified document was improper and possibly illegal, and said he had "an absorbing curiosity to know how it in the dickens you got hold of it."

Suggestions were made and inquired that McCarthy be sworn as a witness and asked how he came into possession of the letter, which was addressed to then Maj. Gen. Alexander R. Bolling, former head of Army Intelligence.
The senator offered no information on the source of his copy.

Alabama Vote Giving Sparkman a Majority; Folsom Ahead, Too

Johns, Collins Face Runoff In Florida

Compiled From Constitution
Wire Services

Returns from Alabama's bitterly contested Democratic primary late last night gave Sen.
Sparkman, the party nominee for vice president in 1952, a narrow majority over three opponents in his race to remain in the U. S.
Senate.

These returns included heavy votes from Madison County, Sparkman's home, and from Mobile, where Rep. Laurie Battle of Birmingham was leading.

Former Gov. James E. Folsom was leading a seven-man race for governor.

FAR AHEAD

Returns from 959 of the state's 2,715 boxes gave Sparkman 72-218 against 57,920 for Battle; 5,654 for retired Adm. John Crommelin, and 1,321 for William C. Irby.

In this and all other races on yesterday's long ballot the leading candidate must get a clear majority of the vote or face a runoff June 1 against the next high man.

The vote for governor, also on 959 boxes:

Folsom, 59,661; State Sen. Jimmy Faulkner, 45,189; Lt. Gov.
James Allen, 23,562; Bruce Henderson, 14,242; C. C. (Jack) Owen, 6,089; Henry Sweet, 1,063 and Winston Gullatte, 635.

RUNOFF DUE

In Florida, acting Gov. Charley
E. Johns and veteran State Sen.
Leroy Collins of Tallahassee battled into a runoff for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

The runoff will be held May 25.
The third man in the race, J.
Brailley Odham of Sanford, conceded defeat after running third and shifted his support to Collins, who trailed Johns by a slim margin with more than three fourths of the precincts reporting.

With 1,311 precincts out of 1-726 reporting, Johns had 187,837, Collins 180,837 and Odham 150,292.

In the three contested races for Alabama's congressional seats,
Rep. Kenneth Roberts of Anniston was far ahead of Tarver Rountree of Selma in the Fourth District; Rep. Frank Boykin was leading John Mandeville of Mobile in the First, and three men were still in the running in the Ninth for the seat to be vacated by Battle.

BENDER WINS

U. S. Rep. George H. Bender of Ohio apparently won the Republican senatorial nomination from State Rep. William Saxbe.

Returns from 5,654 of the state's 10,971 precincts showed the seven-term Cleveland congressman with 116,604 and Saxbe with 87,353.

Rep. Earl Wilson took a commanding lead in a key Indiana primary race that promised to play a large part in deciding who will control the Indiana Republican Party.

Wilson was backed by George N. Craig, while his opponent in the Ninth District race, Ed Whitcomb, carried the colors of Senators Jennings and Caperhart.

With 104 out of 384 precincts reporting, Wilson held a 5,956 to 4,094 lead.

Rebel Drive Overruns New Fort Strongpoint

By MARVIN STONE

HANOI, May 4 (INS)—Fanatical Vietminh troops stormed another Dien Bien Phu fort today, ripped the main stronghold's western defense and smashed to within 500 yards of Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries' command post. The new assault left Dien Bien Phu in its gravest peril.

The screaming Communist-led rebels, tasting but unable to grasp final victory over the outnumbered Dien Bien Phu defenders, beat off a counter-attack by several companies of battle-weary French Union troops against the western strongpoint.

The counter-charge in the face of Vietminh machine-gun fire had to be stopped to avert further losses.

The French high command, indicating the seriousness of the situation, announced that failure of the counter-attack left a gap on the western face of the shrinking defense circle.

Military observers said the fate of Dien Bien Phu, which has been withstanding Vietminh siege assaults since March 13, will be decided "one way or the other" in a few days.

The Vietminh threw 1,600 jungle veterans in dark uniforms at the western strongpoint identified as "Huguette," and after a two-hour close-quarter battle overwhelmed its 200 Foreign Legion and North African defenders.

It was the fourth Dien Bien Phu fort to fall since the Rebels launched their third and mightiest assault last Saturday night.

Army Court Sentences Dickenson to 10 Years

By ELIE ABEL

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution
WASHINGTON, May 4.—An Army court today sentenced Cpl.
Edward S. Dickenson to 10 years' imprisonment at hard labor for collaboration with the enemy while a prisoner of war in Korea.

The 23-year-old soldier from Cracker's Neck, Va., stared glumly at the tribunal as Col.
Walter J. Wolfe, president of the eight-man court, read the sentence.

"It is my duty as president of this court," Col. Wolfe said, "to inform you that the court in closed session, after a secret written ballot with two-thirds of those present concurring, sentences you to be dishonorably discharged, forfeiting service pay and allowances and confined at hard labor for a period of 10 years."

Cpl. Dickenson had been judged guilty, after almost 11 hours' deliberation, of six overt acts violating Article 104 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice, which prohibits aid to the enemy.
Apart from general collaboration with the Chinese Communists during the two and a half years he was a prisoner, the corporal also was convicted of informing on a fellow American who planned to escape.

The Dickenson verdict is subject to automatic review by an Army board and approval by Secretary of the Army Stevens.
The review board is expected to confirm the sentence.

Dulles Comes Home For Review on Asia

Reporting to Ike, Congress; Go Ahead, Knowland Says

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

WASHINGTON, May 4—Secretary of State Dulles returned to the capital tonight for momentous consultations with the President and congressional leaders over the military and diplomatic crisis in Asia.

Certainly some thorough reviews and probably a clarification of the U. S. position toward Indochina were in prospect.

Dulles arrived from the Geneva conference in an atmosphere suggesting that he would be under strong and diverse pressures to-morrow from Congress.

He is to report to President Eisenhower in the morning. In the afternoon he will meet with Republican and Democratic leaders of the Senate and House and with the senior Republican and Democratic members of the foreign and military affairs committees of the two chambers.

While senators generally remained silent pending Dulles' report, the Republican floor leader, William F. Knowland of California, proposed that the United States now draw a line against further Communist aggression in Asia.

OTHERS SPEAKING

Others were speaking in softer terms and with different emphasis.

Secretary of Defense Wilson implied to a press conference that the United States would in no case intervene militarily in Indochina unless it intervened as part of a united action with its Allies.

Wilson also said that he knew of no decision to supply to the French defense of Indochina anything more than the present military assistance.

Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.) emerged from a White House conference with the President to say that Mr. Eisenhower had stated that "no military operation would be undertaken (in Indochina) unless it had the support of the people of the region."

Neither this statement attributed to the President nor Secretary Wilson's observation absolutely ruled out U. S. intervention, but neither had the tone of Knowland's remarks.

READY FOR ACTION

Knowland in substance invited the President to proceed without waiting for the outcome of Geneva, and if necessary without British support, to draw up an Allied defensive front in the Pacific.

The California senator reiterated that he would be prepared to take the lead in the Senate for any presidential resolution authorizing the intervention of U. S. troops in Indochina if a substantial free coalition could be raised to assist in the battle.

All this he did in an interview after a brief speech on the floor of the Senate in which he suggested that the Eisenhower administration had not yet faced "the issues that the free world and the people of the United States must face."

Other powerful Republicans and Democrats, though only in private, deprecated suggestions that the United States should attempt to act in Asia without the British.

WAILS OF COLLEAGUES

There was, moreover, an increasing note of criticism of Knowland for speaking so often of problems that some of his colleagues wished had been left, at this stage, to the President and Dulles.

Knowland, though not speaking to his critics and perhaps not disrectly aware of it, nevertheless gave an answer.

It would be "the height of irresponsibility," he asserted, not to recognize that the Soviet threat to the interests of the United States was steadily growing and that the Communists at Geneva had acted only as "arrogant conquerors."

"So long as I have any position of responsibility," he added, "I for one shall not sit silent."

RESENTFUL OF BRITISH

Knowland made it plain that he had written off the Geneva conference and that he remained resentful of what he has charged was a British refusal to consider taking action concerning Indochina until Geneva had ended.

He sought also to allay a widespread current interpretation that the administration had at one time been on the point of intervening and had only been dissuaded by a chilly reaction from Congress.

The fact of the case, he asserted, was that Congress had neither acceded to nor refused to accede to an intervention since non had been proposed by the administration.

U.S. Trying To Persuade Rhee To Agree on Vote in All Korea

By THOMAS J. HAMILTON

GENEVA, May 4—The Far

Eastern conference decided this afternoon to take a two-day recess while awaiting the outcome of an attempt by the United States to persuade President Syngman Rhee of South Korea to modify his proposal for a unified Korea.

South Korea's demand that elections be held solely in North Korea, is the stumbling block, since the United States is the only member of the United Nations with armed forces in Korea, that has endorsed it unqualifiedly.

The U. S. delegation declined to comment, but other Western delegates said they understood that Undersecretary of State Arthur H. Dean was attempting to persuade Rhee to agree to all-Korea elections.

ENDORSED PROPOSAL

Richard G. Casey, Australian minister of external affairs, endorsed the South Korean proposal in a statement to the conference last week, but at the same time expressed the hope that South Korea would agree to all-Korea elections, if necessary for an agreement. British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden holds the same view. In fact it is understood, that despite U. S. efforts to persuade him to address the conference, he does not now plan to break his silence until South Korea modifies its proposal.

Some Western delegates have considered a compromise suggestion whereby, once the hundred-odd seats in the Seoul Parliament from North Korea were filled, all-Korea elections would be held later. This was in fact considered Saturday at a meeting between the leading members of the U. N. and Communist sides.

NOT GOOD ENOUGH

However, most of the Western delegates opposing the South Korean program, say that this would not be good enough and are insisting on all-Korean elections and nothing else.

Lester B. Pearson, Canadian minister of external affairs, today warmly defended the United States against the Communist charge that it is following a policy of "aggressive imperialism in Asia."

Pearson told the Geneva conference that, if the United States did not respect the rights and interests of others, Canada, instead of exercising the right to disagree would be "merely a satellite of her great neighbor."

SPEAKING TO ASIA

Addressing himself particularly to the peoples of Asia, Pearson declared that the right to be free does not include the obligation to be Communist, and that "Asia for the Asians" is not the same as—indeed is the opposite of—"Asia for the Cominform."

"It would be no contribution either to Asian peace or prosperity, independence or dignity, if the Japanese East Asian co-prosperity sphere were exchanged for the Chinese East Asian co-Communist empire," Pearson declared.

6 H-Bombs Would Kayo Britain, Scientists Say

By DREW MIDDLETON

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

LONDON, May 4—A prediction that two to six hydrogen bombs would be "quite adequate" to break British resistance in a third world war today spurred agitation for international agreement to ban nuclear weapons.

The statement, issued by West Midlands area of the Association of Scientific Workers, asserted that one properly placed bomb would kill at least 2½ million people in the populous Birmingham industrial area, and that Britain could be knocked out of another war with or without Civil Defense.

ATOM WORKERS

Simultaneously, the National Committee of the Amalgamated Engineering Union, whose members would help make the plant and machinery for producing a British hydrogen weapon, unanimously approved a resolution that asked that the whole weight of the working class movement be thrown into agitation to ban the hydrogen bomb as a war weapon, and that seeks a meeting of Britain, the United States, Canada, France, the Soviet Union and Communist China to outlaw the bomb. The union, with membership of nearly a million, is second largest in the country.

These developments emphasized the importance of one of three issues that have caused present grave unrest in Britain. The other two are rearmament of Germany and the possibility of British military involvement in Indochina or elsewhere in southeast Asia.

A realistic appreciation of the importance of these issues in British politics is necessary to understanding British foreign policy, political sources in London assert.

GOP CAMP

Some of these sources suggest that until the U.S. administration and some of its nominal supporters in the Republican Party acknowledge the existence of these issues, and their influence in Britain, the Anglo-American alliance will be beset with difficulties.

Another point made by a distinguished foreign diplomat is that although the Bevanite wing of the Labor Party has led the agitation on these issues, concern about them is general.

Within the socialist movement, this concern already has evoked a shifting of loyalties such as in the case of three whips, who flouted the official line and were dismissed.

Continued pressure on the Conservative government or upon any other government by the United States, for measures that would be considered to conflict with what are conceived at Britain's basic interests, might in time produce a reappraisal of policy here as agonizing as anything Washington might face.

OPPOSE PLAN

In Coventry and elsewhere there already has been considerable resistance to the government's Civil Defense program. Such opposition undoubtedly will be strengthened by a statement issued by the Association of Scientific Workers.

Present Civil Defense arrangements are "so hopelessly inadequate" to cope with modern weapons, particularly the hydrogen bomb, the statement said. "that their maintenance will do more harm than they could possibly do good, by lulling the people into a false sense of security."

The new situation, the statement continued, is that "Britain could be knocked out, with or without Civil Defense, and independently of what our armed forces or those of our allies are doing."

The British government has officially predicted heavy losses in the opening phase of a third world war and a second phase of "broken backed" warfare where the contestants would struggle to rebuild their strength.

Sea Horse Emerges As Escaped Mount

WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH, N.C., May 4 (INS)—A horse seen on Goat Island swam six miles across water, galloped across a hotel lawn at Wrightsville Beach, then swam out to sea.

A sea horse? Owner W. R. Howell says no. He bought it in the Florida Everglades to break it in as a "saddle horse" and it escaped last Saturday.

Dope Addict Plot Laid To Peiping

New York Times News Service Special to The Atlanta Constitution
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., May 4—The United States accused the foreign ministry of Communist China today of directing a campaign to spread drug addiction in the Western world.

The charge was made by Harry J. Anslinger, federal narcotics commissioner. He declared that Peiping government officials have assumed over-all control of the illicit narcotics traffic, both to reap profits and also to "demoralize the people of the free world."

FURNISHES DATA

Anslinger made the accusation in furnishing up-to-date evidence on the illegal drug trade to the United Nations' Commission on Narcotic Drugs. Included in his report was a full account of the April 5 seizure by federal agents of smuggling ring members in San Francisco, supplied with heroin from the Chinese mainland.

The commissioner's remarks on Red China brought an almost instant protest from the Soviet and Polish members of the commission, both complaining that the United States was slandering an absent government and also dragging in political issues.

REPEATED WARNING

Anslinger reminded the members that he has warned for several years that the illegal drug trade on the Chinese mainland was growing. But the new element, he declared, is that the foreign ministry now has taken over the direction of drug exports and distribution.

In the last year, he said, 800 tons of opium, heroin and morphine, valued at 60 million dollars were shipped out.

600 Servicemen In Japan Held In Addict Cases

TOKYO, May 4 (AP)—The Army today disclosed the shocking figures of drug addiction by American servicemen in Japan, revealing that more than 600 men were confined in the Tokyo stockade alone in 1953 on narcotics charges.

The figure, the Army said, did not include five other military stockades in Japan which also handle servicemen arrested for drug violations.

The figures on addiction among the armed forces in Japan were given before a meeting of Far East command psychiatrists by Capt. Peter Ungvárski of the Tokyo stockade.

McCarthy Can End Delays in Hearing

Understanding fully how the GOP would like to bring the McCarthy-Army hearings to an early conclusion, it is obvious that this is not possible. They must, indeed, be carried through to the bitter end.

The Wisconsin senator continues to try to take over conduct of the investigation from Chairman Mundt and with no little success. The hearings have bogged down over technical matters, as Sen. McCarthy and Roy Cohn seek to divert attention from the real purpose of the investigation by bringing up other matters.

Tuesday these tactics prevailed as Cohn made accusations against Secretary Stevens about the Fort Monmouth matter. This is merely another instance of McCarthy's tactics of diverting attention from himself by making sensational charges against others.

The aim of the investigation still is to determine whether Sen. McCarthy and Roy Cohn, chairman and counsel respectively of an important Senate investigating subcommittee, exerted improper political pressure on the Army and its secretary to secure favors for one David Schine—a rich man's son caught in the draft. The aim is to determine whether McCarthy's attacks on the Army were motivated by its resistance to such favors.

Of course, the hearings are damaging the United States Government's prestige at home and abroad. They are damaging the Republican Party, too, and hurting the nation. They are dividing the Army and lowering the morale of all the armed forces.

For the GOP, the spectacle is an object lesson in the handling of party discipline and the difficulties encountered because of open encouragement of division within party ranks. It shows clearly how indulgence of Sen. McCarthy has failed to satisfy his personal ambitions. It has heightened them.

The hearings can be speeded up whenever Sen. McCarthy decides to stop his dawdling and delays over minute points. By all means, however, these delays must not be permitted to frustrate the purpose of the hearings nor to prevent bringing the senator himself to the stand. He has had Secretary Stevens on the grill for almost two weeks. He must take his turn.

Georgia Retail Sales Show Upward Trend

If retail sales are any indication of prosperity, the much-talked-of recession has had little effect in Georgia. In the first two months of this year, the over-all total for the state exceeded 1953's record-breaking pace.

Walter Cates, executive vice president of the State Chamber of Commerce, reports an over-all increase in January of 3½ per cent over the same month last year. Total sales in February exceeded the previous year by 7½ per cent. Sales volume in the whole state jumped from $253,826,505 in January, 1953, to $263,096,262 in 1954. Comparable figures for February were $269,528,052 in 1953 and $279,705,237 in 1954.

"This encouraging upward sales trend reflects the current sound economy of Georgia and is influenced to a great extent by our new industrial payrolls, greater tourist income and the influx of new residents," Mr. Cates said.

This seems to be borne out by the spectacular sales increase in Wayne County, which jumped from $1,302,794 in January, 1953, to $2,272,222 in January, 1954. The comparable figures for February were $1,379,445 and $3,884,025.

These signs of continued economic progress in Georgia are heartening, indeed.

'Don't Give Up,' Advises Kindly Bernard Baruch

Wise old Bernard Baruch made a speech in New York Wednesday. It was in the Baruch pattern, filled with understandable philosophy and molded by his years of experience in living and in observing and assisting his fellow man. It was not pessimistic, although these times are conducive to such an attitude.

"That old 'nothing-can-be-done' philosophy never did appeal to me," said Mr. Baruch. "I have never believed that man had to lie down dumbly before anything, whether flood, fire, famine, disease, drought, earthquake—or the effects of man's own stupidities, including that most incredible folly of all, war."

His address was a plea for action, for attacks on our problems before they engulf us. Tracing our history in economics, in diplomacy and the developing atomic age, he declared that we have had a tendency to put things off until it is too late.

He cited a parallel in the present situation in Indochina. "One year we will spend billions arming to our eyeteeth. Then, abruptly, we will fling down our weapons, demobilize our forces and scuttle and run as in 1945."

He thinks that all our excesses can be avoided. While not opposing change, he believes it must be guided and controlled so it "can be harmonized with the laws of human existence and thus be rendered less erratic and more fruitful."

Looking at the dangers of atomic energy, the elder statesman said we should never abandon our search for a plan of effective control of nuclear weapons. President Eisenhower's proposed pool, he said, has value only if it succeeds in widening peaceful atomic use. It will not remove the specter of atomic destruction.

"Outlawing" atomic weapons will not prevent their use in the hands of unscrupulous rulers. A fool-proof international system of inspection and control is the only guarantee against their use.

All these factors should not make us flounder and vacillate. Rather, they call for action and continued and endless search to find ways to adjust man's aims and aspirations along lines of continued progress.

Warm Springs Record Is Tribute to Many

During the fiscal year 1953 the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation gave 1,091 polio patients a total of 59,225 hospital days treatment.

Of those 59,225 days' care, 71 per cent or a little more than seven out of every 10 days were without charge to the patient. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis or one of its chapters paid the bill.

That is where nearly a million dollars of the money you gave to the March of Dimes went.

That is where it must continue to go, to Warm Springs and similar treatment centers, until this scourge of children is licked. The chances are favorable now that it will be soon. But until that happy time comes, it's comforting to know that the generosity of Americans has made available funds for the treatment of its victims.

Newnan Key Club Plan Helps Blood Program

The Key Club is a Kiwanis affiliate that operates in the high schools. Last year the Newnan Key Club chose the Red Cross blood program as its project.

The 20 Key Club members in the Newnan High School took the Red Cross staff aide course. This helped out when the Bloodmobile came to their city, they promoted blood giving between visits.

Finally, they recorded what they had done and submitted it in competition with other Key Clubs in Georgia at the state convention last week.

The Newnan blood program project won, not only the state prize, but also high praise from an official of Kiwanis International. He said he was going to submit it at the national convention as a model for Key Clubs across the land.

Thus, the Red Cross blood program may benefit nationally. Of course the real beneficiary is suffering humanity.

The Newnan Key clubbers are to be congratulated on the success of their project. They are to be thanked for the idea they have planted. May it spread from club to club and coast to coast!

Uniform Traffic Code Praised as Lifesaver

The 1954 session of the General Assembly of Georgia earned its pay with one bill and that bill is the Uniform Traffic Code of Georgia.

First, it gives Georgia State Patrolmen authority to stop an automobile and give it an inspection. (If you haven't put your car into shape then we suggest you see your garage man today and make necessary corrections before you have them outlined for you on a Georgia Patrol ticket.)

By stopping automobiles for routine checks the patrolmen have been removing the cause of many accidents from the highway: drunk drivers, the one-beer drivers, faulty brakes, faulty lighting and other mechanical faults that are the hidden cause of many death-dealing accidents.

Then the Uniform Traffic Code has fixed the minimum fine for drunk drivers—$100 to $200 for the first offense and higher fines for repeaters. This will aid materially in removing the drunks from the highway. We don't think it will stop any drinking but, as one fellow put it upon hearing of the high fine, "I guess I'll just have to give up driving."

All in all, it appears to be one of the best pieces of legislation to come out of the State Legislature. We hope it continues to save lives in Georgia.

Program To Raise Asian Standard of Living Called Best Way To End Communist Peril

New York—Your columns almost daily give evidence that the United States Government has picked Indochina as the place to stop the Communists in Southeast Asia even if this means direct involvement in war. A campaign is on in Washington to convince us that if Indochina falls, all of Southeast Asia and eventually Japan and the Philippines will go Communist.

Unless the United States really intends to support a policy of equal access by all nations to the raw materials of Indochina, our intervention in war will be interpreted throughout Asia as a war in behalf of American economic imperialism.

The United States could more readily stop Communist growth in Asia by beginning a large-scale counter-movement designed to give Asians a challenging alternative. Such a movement would begin with a cooperative program to build up the standard of living in India, Burma, Thailand and Pakistan. Communism would have little appeal to countries that are economically, physically and educationally healthy.

We must not become so enamored of military power that we overlook the power of a non-violent program revolutionary enough to capture the hearts of men.

McCarthy Himself Must Take Stand

WASHINGTON—Anxiety in the administration and among Republican congressional leaders over the McCarthy-Army spectacle, which was reflected in statements last weekend from both President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon, may be traced to several factors revealed in analyses of public reaction, among them:

1. This is a fight entirely within the Republican Party, and that is perfectly plain.

2. Whichever side wins, the Republican Party loses—either its Department of the Army or its most widely known senator.

3. Part of the public can't understand what the Republican leadership in the Senate and on the committee would be accused of unfairness and discrimination.

Failure to give the Wisconsin senator the same searching grilling that he, as well as Ray Jenkins, committee counsel, have given Secretary Stevens would be resented by the public and certainly would be capitalized by Democrats.

The latter would read back to Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.), committee chairman, his own statement about getting the facts from all parties to the dispute and about conducting the inquiry fairly.

How long the investigation will run now is partly up to Sen. McCarthy himself. He can string out his own cross-examination of Army witnesses, as he has been doing with Secretary Stevens. He has given every indication of such intention. That, of course, puts off the day when he, himself, takes the stand.

Democrats have agreed among themselves, it is learned, that they will never consent to the investigation being shut off until Sen. McCarthy, himself, has taken the witness chair, no matter how long they must wait for that day to come.

Things Are Rough Behind Iron Curtain

St. Louis, Mo.—The Russian secret police agents recently have fallen to capitalism in Australia, Japan and East Germany.

When these secret agents are willing to trade their jobs for asylum in capitalist countries, things must be pretty rough back home.

If Russia had a Congressional Investigating Committee, she might be forced to investigate her secret police, that is, if her huge army and a small senator weren't at loggerheads.

Army Charges Are Still Not Proven Fact

Evanston, Ill.—In his column, Mr. McGill has repeatedly stated as proven facts what are, in truth, only charges that the Army has made against the McCarthy committee.

This is before the defense has been heard and before the "jury" has brought in its verdict.

Is this honest reporting?

A Sergeant Pleads For Korean Orphans

From a sergeant of the First Battalion of the Fifth Marines there came this message the other day addressed to all Americans. It was a plea for Korea.

"Somewhere in this war-torn land," he wrote, "a little girl will die tonight, starved and all alone. She is 8 years old, or maybe 10, and once she had a round doll face and soft brown eyes, and her heart was full of laughter."

"Then the war came, and her father went away to fight, and never came back again. And then came the soldiers with guns and cannon, and in the night the shells fell on her village, and the houses began to burn. And her mother fell and could not get up again for a flying piece of steel had struck her and she was dead."

"That was a long time ago, in 1950, and since then the little girl has been alone. No food to eat except what she could beg. No shelter except the rubble. No clothes except the little black skirt and white blouse she wore the night her mother died. Her face is not round and doll-like now, but thin and drawn and peaked."

"There is but one end for her. Sometime soon—tonight perhaps—in a dark corner of some dingy alley, she will die, frightened, hungry, and still alone."

"For her," the sergeant wrote, "and all the thousands like her, the troops in Korea have done what they could. They have shared their food and their clothing and their money. But the thousands of orphaned children of Korea need more than the Marines and the GI's can give."

The sergeant was thinking in terms of individual gifts of clothes and canned foods and soap and medicine, which he or his battalion chaplain could distribute to those who needed them. But Korea's needs go far beyond the care of her countless orphans. Korea's hospitals, schools and orphanages lie in ruins and must be rebuilt. Korea's nurses and doctors lie dead in the paddy fields, victims of the war, and new ones must be trained. Korea needs seeds and fertilizer and farm tools. Korea needs the understanding help of a nationwide organization which can support a complete program of rehabilitation.

Such an organization has been formed and is now at work. It is called the American Korean Foundation. Its chairman is that brave soldier and great, warm-hearted man whose own son died in Korea—Gen. James A. Van Fleet. It has sent teams of experts to Korea to see what was needed, and to lay out a plan, not extravagant, but adequate, which would rebuild the orphanages, the hospitals, the churches, provide for the homeless, and restore to usefulness the men and women maimed and crippled by the war.

This week, the group begins its work in Georgia. The chairman for the state is Robert S. Lynch, president of the Atlantic Steel Company. Fred J. Turner, president of Southern Bell, is in charge of procuring supplies and equipment. Anything non-perishable and non-inflammable is wanted—except old articles of clothing.

The simplest and most effective way for an individual to help is with a gift of money. So little cash buys so much in Korea. Fifty cents will care for an orphan for a day.

The man charged with collecting funds is Jack F. Glenn, assistant president of the Citizens and Southern National Bank, in Atlanta. He will be glad to hear from you.

Imagination Serves As Artist's Brush

In the story of the feeding of the five thousand by Christ (John 1:1-13), notice carefully the steps He took. First, He recognized the need. The people were hungry and should be fed. Second, He took stock of the available resources. All they could find was a lad with five loaves and two fishes. So Christ used that. Third, and this is an important step, He took the loaves and gave thanks. That is simply marvelous.

After giving thanks, without waiting for the bread to be multiplied, Jesus began to break it. What a great faith! He began by using what He had and to the amazement of the people, He had sufficient for all their needs. In fact, there were twelve baskets of food left over. I wish I were an artist. I would like to paint four pictures and hang them where I would see them every day. Not being able to paint those pictures on canvas, I have made an effort to put them clearly on the screen of my mind.

The first picture shows five thousand hungry people. Standing in their midst is Him who always is concerned about human need. In His hands is the little boy's lunch. He might have complained about having so little when He needed so much. Instead of complaining, He lifts up His eyes to God and gives thanks.

The next picture shows this same Christ at a table with twelve men. It seems that everything was lost and nothing had been gained. In His hand is a piece of bread which He will use as an example of His body and how it will be broken. He might have become panicky or bitter. Instead, the Bible tells us, "He took bread, and gave thanks"

Rebuff by London Blamed on Timing

GENEVA—Efforts are being made to repair the cleavage that developed 10 days ago between Great Britain and the United States, and it may be said there is a fair chance of getting back on the track of Allied unity.

Whatever the basic cause of the misunderstanding, the fact is that a painful impression of disunity was created upon the minds of American officials both here and in Washington when the British cabinet seemed to veer away from the principle of "united action" which Secretary Dulles had carried away as approved after his last visit to London just before the Geneva conference began.

It is most discouraging to read here the erroneous interpretations which have appeared in some American newspapers concerning the efforts of Secretary Dulles. It is just as wrong to say he lost his leverage here because of what various Republican senators back home were saying as to argue that an alleged American desire to intervene immediately in Indochina was rebuffed by the British. What went wrong was the timing.

There was a sudden reversal in London due to the discovery after the original commitment to Dulles was given—that the conference of Asian prime ministers in Ceylon was about to meet and that any implementation of a collective-action policy might thereupon muddy the waters there. As it happened, while the resolutions adopted at Ceylon were by no means palatable, they were not as bad as might have resulted if

Dr. J. B. Kay, Byron, Practitioner of the Year

Dr. J. B. Kay of Byron, who has practiced medicine in middle Georgia for 35 years, Tuesday was named General Practitioner of the Year by the Medical Association of Georgia in session at Macon.

As Georgia's top GP, Dr. Kay will be considered with other state winners for the national title by the American Medical Assn. His practice, started when he came to Byron after intern- ing in Atlanta's Grady Hospital, extends in- to Peach, Bibb, Crawford and Houston counties.

At 64—he'll be 65 Thursday—the vigorous doctor is full of humor and love of life and family. "My wife is responsible for all I've ever done," he said. A graduate nurse, Mrs. Kay has been part of Byron's medical team for many years.

Dr. Kay estimates he has delivered 3,500 babies, averaging about 100 a year. For many years the only doctor in Byron, Dr. Kay has recently brought an associate, Dr. R. C. Barnes, into his practice.

Another top award of the M. A. G. will be presented Wednesday to Dr. Daniel C. Elkin, retiring professor of surgery at the Emory University Medical School. He will receive the Hardeman Award for his "long and distinguished career as a medical teacher and for notable contributions to medical science in the field of vascular surgery particularly."

In Home Fire;

Mom Saves Baby

TRION, May 4 (AP)—Four-year-old Stella Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Morgan, was burned to death in her home at Little Sand Mountain community in Chattooga County Tuesday.

A one-year-old baby was rescued from the burning home by Mrs. Morgan. Both are being treated for burns. The father was hospitalized for shock.

Authorities quoted Mrs. Morgan as saying the fire began on the roof of the home about 9:30 a.m., while she was out of the house. Mrs. Morgan carried the smaller child from the house but was unable to locate her older daughter in time to rescue her.

GEORGIA ASSOCIATION STUDIES LAW

Doctors Name Harris Counsel

MACON, May 4—Roy Harris, Augusta political leader, Tuesday was named legal adviser to the legislative committee of the Medical Association of Georgia.

Dr. Peter B. Wright of Augusta, incoming president of the association now meeting in Macon, said Harris would serve without pay but would draw limited travel expenses in connection with the medical post.

Earlier Harris, former speaker of the Georgia House of Representatives, made an unscheduled address before the House of Delegates of the association in which he pleaded with the doctors to "take an interest in politics as a matter of duty."

At a legal clinic held Tuesday the Georgia doctors were urged to familiarize themselves with laws on sterilization, adoption, illegitimacy and artificial insemination.

John A. Dunaway of Atlanta, who took part in a discussion of "The Doctor and the Law," said Georgia has state laws on sterilization, adoption and illegitimacy but no statutes or cases involving artificial insemination.

Dunaway said he knew of no law prohibiting a doctor from using artificial insemination to impregnate a woman in cases where the woman is fertile and the husband is sterile.

But he said law cases in other states have revealed "a big obstacle to artificial insemination is the fact that the child will be illegitimate if the wedded husband is not the actual father."

"The inheritance of the child conceived by artificial insemination," he said, "would be in jeopardy from the standpoint of property rights."

By KATHERINE BARNWELL
Constitution Staff Writer

He said the illegitimate child has "no rights of inheritance under most laws."

In such cases, Dunaway said, both parents would have to adopt the child legally (even though he is the natural offspring of the mother) to make sure he has rights of inheritance.

In cases where the health of a wife is involved and both husband and wife request sterilization in writing, he said, the doctor may perform sterilization

Youth Held in Tire Slashings

A 17-year-old soldier home on leave from Ft. McClelland, Ala., Tuesday was arrested on charges of malicious mischief in connection with automobile tire slashings in the Capitol Avenue-Little street sections, police said.

Pvt. J. M. Mulliford and W. D. Hoskins identified the soldier as Jerry D. Hughes of 226 Powell St., SE. They added two others, also believed to be soldiers on leave from the same station, were sought in connection with the vandalism.

Mulliford and Hoskins said the tires on approximately 50 autos and trucks were damaged.

M'Carthy's FBI Report Sets Off New Dispute at Army Hearings except to say that it did not come from the FBI.

Welch asserted that it did not come from the Army files.

(Lt. Gen. Bolling, commanding general of 3rd Army with headquarters at Ft. McPherson, was named deputy director of intelligence in 1947 after returning from a tour of duty in Europe. He was named Army chief of intelligence in August 1950, and held that post until Aug. 22, 1952, when he was named 3rd Army commander. Gen. Bolling is at Ft. Bragg, N.C., directing Operation Flashburn. He is slated to return to Atlanta Wednesday.)

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), acting committee chairman, ruled that "other investigative agencies," presumably including Sen. McCarthy and his staff, did not have to disclose the source of their investigation.

OFFERS NOTE

Secretary Stevens, to whom McCarthy first offered the letter in the course of his questioning, refused to read a word or a paragraph of the letter even to himself, declaring it was "very bad policy to discuss these things without Mr. Hoover's knowing about it."

His counsel, Welch, backed him up on this point, declaring that when he saw the confidential nature of the document he dropped it to the table "believing it was as improper for me as I believe it was for the senator to have it in his possession or bring it into this courtroom, since I understand it is a breach of the law to disclose any of these confidential matters involving the FBI."

He promised, however, to search the Pentagon files for the letter "if we have to keep 14 colonels up 14 nights."

What the letter said wasn't disclosed, but after three had been so much discussion about its propriety, impartial subcommittee counsel Jenkins publicly and dramatically refused McCarthy's request that Jenkins keep it in his custody for the night.

There were some suggestions that Hoover, himself, might be subpoenaed to testify, but other senators thought this was unnecessary and that an unsworn deposition from him would be acceptable to the committee. Jenkins was told to obtain this tonight, if possible.

The issue of the confidential letter and how Sen. McCarthy obtained it threatened to protract still further the hearings at a time when committee members are complaining they are under pressure from "persons in high places" in government and from the newspapers to bring them to a speedy conclusion. Suggestions were made late to day that the committee hold three sessions daily—morning, afternoon and night—and meet on Saturdays as well. Welch protested, and no action was taken. But Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) said he would ask for a vote on these issues in a closed session tomorrow.

While Welch had said yesterday he would be willing to rest the case on the testimony of Stevens and McCarthy, he was unwilling to do so today, insisting, at least, that Roy M. Cohn, subcommittee chief counsel, and Francis P. Carr, subcommittee staff director, also be called.

The four Republicans comprising a majority of the subcommittee were willing to accept the idea that Stevens could step down from the stand at once and that McCarthy would be the final witness, starting today.

REJECT PLAN

But the three Democrats, backed up by Welch, speaking for the Army, refused to go along with this idea.

Faced with the possibility of a 4-to-3 vote, Welch warned, "a committee vote that was too close in numbers would not leave the American people happy." He said he was forced to say, "The American people will demand and should have the long, hard furrow plowed."

In all, the subcommittee spent the first 65 minutes of its public,

Gets Year in Jail As Commuting Thief

FITCHBURG, Mass., May 4 (AP)—Robert E. Kumpulainen, 28, described by police as a "commuting burglar," was sentenced to a year in jail today.

He pleaded guilty in district court to four burglary charges and four counts of attempted burglary.

Police quoted Kumpulainen as saying he made a practice of taking a 2 a.m. train from Boston to Fitchburg, staging a burglary and returning to Boston on a 4 a.m. train.

He was arrested yesterday after he was spotted rifling a room in the YMCA here, police said.

televised morning session talking about how to speed up the hearings, without success.

And when Sen. McCarthy and Cohn resumed their cross examination of Secretary Stevens, they gave no indication they were anywhere near the end of their questions even though the senator had said last night, in a closed hearing, that he would be willing to end the cross examination at once and take the stand himself.

PRESS CASE

The senator and his brilliant young legal aide spent a large part of the morning and afternoon session trying to prove that Aaron Coleman, a suspended employee at Ft. Monmouth, was dangerous to the national security and that he had been kept on the job for many months after the Eisenhower administration assumed office.

Stevens, who was on the witness stand, protested he was not familiar with the details, and finally Adams passed him a note saying that Coleman had been put on a restricted, non-classified job in January 1953. He was suspended in September.

During the discussion of Coleman, Sen. McCarthy made the charge that the Army had "stripped" a personnel file furnished to his subcommittee about Coleman.

Atlanta Division, University of Georgia student, she was as wide-eyed as young Peter when handsome Jerome Hines, satanically made up and towering in his scarlet-lined cloak, pranced about, producing thunder and lightning and making wine flow from a statue's mouth.

Bemused members of the matinee audience kept their opera-glasses busy watching the striking new settings of "Faust."

Met Manager Rudolf Bing and his right-hand man, Max Rudolph, who were instrumental in restaging "Faust" from scratch, were beaming Tuesday over the response the new production drew.

Steady Atlanta opera-goers, a little dizzy after three performances and successive late nights made later by after-the-opera parties, had one treat still in store. The Met will close its 1954 season here Wednesday night with "La Forza del Destino."

"Everybody's happy," Bing and Rudolph reported. "The sun has come out so our singers can sit on the terrace and pretend they are on a holiday. And best of all—Atlanta still seems to like us!"

HISTORIC SUCCESS FOR CELEBRATED OLD CROW!

Milder, 86 Proof bottling, companion to the world-famous 100 Proof Bottled in Bond, attains popularity throughout the land!

History was made the day that Old Crow (renowned for more than a century as the greatest name in bourbon) took a most important step in introducing a lighter, 86 Proof bottling as a companion to the traditional Bottled in Bond. Now, just a few months later, history is being made again, and you, the whiskey-buying public, are making it.

New thousands of you are asking for Old Crow every day. New thousands of you are finding in the outstanding quality and unique taste of Old Crow the reasons for its leadership, just as the Kentucky frontiersmen did over a century ago.

Today, the path to the ultimate in bourbon enjoyment is still the path that leads to your favorite liquor retailer where you may "call for Crow"—in the celebrated 100 Proof Bottled in Bond or the lighter 86 Proof bottling—and enjoy the finest Kentucky bourbon ever put into glass.

Planters returned to Deep South with tales of James Crow and barrels of his famous whiskey

Before Old Crow's fame had spread west to California, east to the Atlantic seaboard and thence to Europe, it had, naturally, acquired a reputation in the neighboring Southland first. Southern planters, vacationing "up North" in Kentucky, soon agreed that the whiskey made by James Crow in his tiny distillery was overwhelmingly superior to any they had ever tasted before. Today, when you lift a glass of this superb whiskey, you, too, are certain to agree that here, indeed, is the finest-tasting bourbon ever to come out of Kentucky.

AGRICULTURAL SCIENTISTS ARE CONGRATULATED
(L-R) Dr. George King, R. L. Carter, E. H. DeVane, Dr. Glenn W. Burton, Dr. Harmon Caldwell

Grass Roots Studies Win Research Awards

By JACK GILCHRIST
Constitution Farm Editor
Three agricultural scientists from the Coastal Plains Experiment Station, Tifton, won awards here Tuesday for making the most significant contribution to Georgia's agriculture through research in 1953.

The three who received gold keys and cash awards during a special luncheon were Dr. Glenn Burton, discoverer of Coastal Bermuda grass, E. H. DeVane and R. L. Carter.

ROOT STUDY

The three won their awards through their cooperative study of the root behavior of grasses with emphasis on Burton's Suwanee Bermudagrass in sandy soils.

Although rules of the contest call for one scientist to receive the award each year, out-of-state judges considered the work of all three men so important they called it a three-way tie.

Dr. George H. King, associate director of Georgia experiment stations, said the award winning scientists proved that the roots of drought-tolerant grasses such as Suwanee Bermudagrass reached depths of up to eight feet and tapped reservoirs of water not available to shallow rooted crops.

PROOF
King said their reports explained why the performance of Suwanee Bermudagrass on sandy soils exceeded expectations during the dry season of 1952.

In the tests, yields of dry matter from Suwanee Bermudagrass were compared with other crops. When fertilized with 50 pounds of nitrogen per acre Suwanee produced over 1,200 pounds more dry matter per acre than Pensacola Bahia. With 200 pounds of nitrogen per acre, the difference was 4,700 pounds of dry matter.

JUDGE COMMENTS

Commenting on the research, Dr. R. W. Cummings, director of research at North Carolina State College, and one of the judges selecting winners of the award, said, "These improved grasses, along with the information obtained on their management requirements, are destined to have a profound importance to Southern agriculture, particularly in the areas of sandy soils."

Georgia agricultural leaders point out that in the Southeastern United States there are millions of acres of deep sand now growing such plants as scrub oak and palmetto. Because attempts to grow such crops as corn on these sands have usually failed, they have been generally classed as soils having no agricultural value. These studies of rooting behavior, however, suggest that these sands, of which there are more than one million acres in Georgia, can be profitably used for forage and pasture production.

AWARD SPONSOR

Only workers in University of Georgia Agricultural Experiment Stations were eligible to compete for the cash award and keys, which were given by Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

Honorable mention awards were given to W. W. Harper, Georgia Experiment Station, Experiment, for work on marketing Georgia broilers, and to T. A. Pickett and K. T. Holley, Georgia Experiment Station, for their studies on peanut roasting.

The gold keys were presented by Dr. Harmon Caldwell, chancellor of the University System.

He Hurls Tar To See 'What Would Happen'

OMAHA, Neb., May 4 (AP)—A scientifically minded man stole a bucket of tar and threw it on a passerby today to see "what would happen."

Workmen using the tar said a man came up and asked, "What would happen if the tar was thrown on somebody?"

A moment later the man snatched up a bucket and splashed its contents over Ernie Hill, 47.

The man escaped and Hill refused medical treatment.

Hailey Urges Small Lots In Blast at Zoning Study

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Fulton Commissioners Gloor Hailey and R. L. (Shorty) Doyal Tuesday attacked what they charged amounts to elimination of nonconforming zoning for unincorporated areas of Fulton County in a proposed new zoning ordinance for Atlanta and Fulton County.

East Point Votes Sum To Andrews

East Point City Council voted Monday to pay $1,332 in final claims for back salary and damages to Police Capt. Tom A. Andrews, who has been retired on a disability pension of $100 per month.

Thus council moved to end a problem that has bobbed up at every council meeting for months.

The body took its action, however, in the absence of Mayor Al Roberts, who was unable to attend the meeting because of illness. Mayor Pro-Tem Fred T. Etris presided. Roberts previously vetoed a council action to pay the $1,020 in back salary to Andrews.

The money voted Andrews included salary from Nov. 15 through Feb. 15 of this year, when he officially left city employment, and payment of a $312 claim against the city for damages to the Andrews home resulting from the Nov. 2 shooting scrape between Andrews and fellow officers.

As a result of the incident, Andrews was indicted on eight counts of assault and battery, and suspended from the police force. Subsequently, a Fulton County jury ruled him innocent of the charges on grounds of insanity. A board of examiners at the State Mental Hospital, however, ruled Andrews was sane and apparently suffered from a "drug psychosis."

LOSSES POST
In addition, the city officially dismissed Andrews from the department on Feb. 15 for "inability" to perform police duties.

Andrews' attorney, Guy Parker, appealed the ruling.

Appearing before council Monday night, Andrews said he planned to accept the disability pension given him by the pension board, and added:

"If the city pays me up through Feb. 15 and pays the damage claim on my home, my wife and I are willing to sign a release to the city releasing it from any future claims."

DRAFT PACT
He added that once the agreement is completed by his attorney and Ezra Phillips, city attorney, "You'll hear no more out of my wife and myself."

Council, in voting to pay Andrews through Feb. 15, in effect set the date Andrews' pension will begin. The pension board voted to pay Andrews $100 per month disability pension on grounds he had suffered disabling injuries in motorcycle accidents while with the Police Department.

Waiter Sentenced To 4-7 Years in Burglaries Here

Charlie Jones, 25-year-old Negro hotel waiter, was sentenced to serve four to seven years in prison Tuesday after a jury found him guilty on three counts of burglary. Jones, who led police on an hour-long chase through Ansley Park before he was captured a month ago, was charged with six burglaries in Northside residential areas. The jury found him guilty of three of them.

Jones gave his address as 997 Fair St., SW. He was tried before Fulton Superior Judge Claude Shaw.

WASHINGTON, May 4 (INS)—The White House announced today that President Eisenhower will hold a news conference at 9:30 a.m. Atlanta time Wednesday.

Mother of Year Chats With Mamie in Capital

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower today received "the 1954 mother of the year"—Mrs. Love McDuffie Tolbert of Columbus, Ga.—at the White House as four of Mrs. Tolbert's five sons looked on proudly.

The youngest son, Stokes Munroe Tolbert, 31, is a State department economist stationed in New Delhi, India, "and he couldn't quite make it back," explained his brother, Jack Page Tolbert, 35.

Their father, Wheeler Howard Tolbert, a salesman for a tailoring firm, also was unable to come up to see his wife honored as this year's selection by the American mother's committee of the Golden Rule Foundation. He is suffering from a leg ailment.

The four sons came from various sections of the country. Jack, who is in the public relations department of an oil company, came from New York.

The eldest son, Wheeler H. Tolbert, 42, is here from Weslaco, Texas, where he is with the Post Office department. The others are James, 37, professor of English at St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., and assistant pastor Arch, 33, of the St. Charles Avenue Presbyterian Church, New Orleans, La.

Mrs. Eisenhower and Mrs. Tolbert chatted in the rose garden on the south side of the White House.

Afterward Mrs. Tolbert and her sons and the party were entertained at lunch at the Capitol by Rep. Forrester (D-Ga.).

Mrs. Tolbert will be presented with her award Wednesday in New York.

Dr. Golson was nominated first vice president of the MAG and Dr. Hatcher was nominated second vice president. They will be elected formally Wednesday at the closing session of the MAG convention.

S. Fulton Scout Finesse Tribute to 'Uncle Jack'

When more than 350 south Fulton Boy Scouts simultaneously performed for an Indian event during Saturday night's Scoutorama at Grant Field, it marked one of numerous accomplishments in the 34-year scouting career of R. H. (Uncle Jack) Grantham of Hapeville.

Although Grantham credits success of the event to a "coordinated effort," Ben Moseley, commissioner for the South Fulton District of Boy Scouts, says Grantham was responsible for the finesse of the dance.

Moseley said Grantham had been in charge of the dances and props as well as director of the dance for the entire time it had been planned. Grantham and his students taught the dances to all 351 Scouts who performed.

Moseley said Grantham also merits praise for his "overall activities down through the years."

"We just wish we had more men like him in the Atlanta Area Council," he added.

Grantham, who retired in 1948 at the age of 60 after 33 years with the U.S. Post Office, first became interested in Boy Scouting about 1920 when his oldest son, Jack, then 12, joined a Scout troop. The elder Grantham now holds the highest rank given to a Scout official, that of Silver Beaver.

"I wanted to know what the boy was to be doing. I didn't even know then what Scouting was," Grantham confided.

Frank Smith, then scoutmaster of the Hapeville troop, induced Grantham to form another Scout troop. This led to his interest and study of his specialty, Indian lore.

"I made a study of beadwork and Indian sign language, and then I learned to talk with my hands. Later I took up other items of Indian lore, such as teepee building. All of this led to the Indian dances," Grantham explained.

His study of Indian lore also has led Grantham into another hobby.

Maritime Boardman Williams Resigns

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower today accepted the resignation of Robert W. Williams, Democratic member of the Federal Maritime Board, effective May 14.

Williams was appointed in September, 1950, to a term which expires June 30. He asked for his release now for what he called urgent personal and family reasons.

CHILDREN'S HOME

117 Equips Baptist Ball Team

Hapeville's East No. 117 of the American Legion has donated $500 to the Georgia Baptist Children's Home to purchase athletic equipment for the home's baseball teams.

Ashton Russell, athletic director for the home, said the donation was made through the Legion's athletic committee, and was used to purchase complete uniforms, balls, bats and gloves for its 12-and-under and 15-and-under baseball teams.

Russell credited Harvey L. Peppers, chairman of the post athletic and finance committees, as being most instrumental in obtaining funds for the home.

At least $200 of the amount came from the pockets of two Legionnaires, Russell said. Norman Clayton and Pete Clay Sr. gave $100 each to add to $300 given by thee post.

At almost the same time Russell said, the Ladies Auxiliary of Post 117 purchased a large electric clock and donated it for use in the Baptist Home's gymnasium.

Pakistan Spurns Red Jab at U.S.

MOSCOW, May 4 (INS)—Pakistan tonight rejected a Soviet protest that acceptance of American military aid means Pakistan army will be placed under foreign command.

Pakistan, replying to a Soviet note of March 26, also declared Russia had drawn "an unjustified conclusion" in believing Pakistan military bases are being placed at the disposal of the United States.

The Rev. George Zorn, pastor of Pinson Memorial Methodist Church of Sylvester, will preach the commencement sermon this year. E. A. Edwards Jr., Glee Club director of the college, will direct the sacred concert.

G. I. Martin, the state director of Vocational Education, will deliver the literary address to the students on Tuesday morning, June 8 at 11 o'clock, in the college auditorium.

Newnan Meet Hears Governor

NEWNAN, May 4—Gov. Herman Talmadge told members of the Coweta Cattleman's Assn. Tuesday night that the "future of the cattle business is bright."

The governor spoke at the annual meeting of the group held at the fairgrounds. He was introduced by Newnan Atty. Walter D. Sanders.

Talmadge, explaining that the oversupply in the cattle market has been reached, told the cattlemen, "The best time to start in beef cattle business is right now."

He said he expects the price to start going up either this year or next, and advised farmers to grow into the business by degrees.

State Session Of Assemblies Of God Opens

The state convention of the Assemblies of God opened Tuesday night at the Assembly of God Tabernacle, 301 Capitol Ave., SW, with a rally and address by the Rev. Thomas F. Zimmermann of Springfield, Mo. Several hundred ministers from over the state attended.

Wednesday's session will begin with an address by the Rev. Ernest P. Pruett, convention superintendent, at 9:30 a.m. A business session will follow his address. The Rev. Mr. Pruett will preside at Wednesday afternoon's session to begin at 2:30 p.m.

The denomination's Home Missions Department, which established more than one new church a month in Georgia last year, will have charge of the evening session which begins at 7:30 p.m.

The convention will continue through Thursday, closing with an ordination service at 7:30 p.m. The 20 churches of the denomination's Atlanta district are hosts for the convention.

Senate Approves A Prayer Room

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—The Senate decided today to set aside a prayer room in the Capitol where congressmen can retreat from affairs of state for meditation.

The Senate approved a resolution, already approved by the House, directing the architect of the Capitol "to make available a room, with facilities for prayer and meditation, for use of members" of Congress.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., May 4 (AP)—The U. N. Security Council batted down Russian and Arab objections today and voted to have a general debate on the tense border problems between Israel and Jordan.

Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky and Charles Malik of Arab-Lebanon voted against a Brazilian-Colombian formula which called for a general debate.

The Russian and Lebanese delegates wanted instead to have a debate first on an Arab complaint that the Israelis raided the village of Nahalin and killed nine Arabs.

Why Has GOP Disowned Teddy Roosevelt And Lincoln? Democrats Ask in Letter Duel

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—The Democrats expressed pleasure tonight at GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall's claim that the Republicans are following in the footsteps of Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson, two Democratic Presidents.

"I am looking forward to the day when the liberalism of Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt also will be mellowed enough by time to become acceptable to the Republican party," Clayton Fritchey, deputy chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said in a letter to Hall.

The Democratic party traces its roots and principles back to the 19th Century Presidents, Jefferson and Jackson. Lincoln is a revered figure of GOP history and Roosevelt was a liberal Republican.

Hall wrote Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell earlier today that he noted the Democrats were preparing for their annual Jefferson - Jackson Day celebration and added: "We feel regretfully that the Democratic party during the past 20-odd years has somehow lost sight of certain basic Jeffersonian and Jacksonian tenets."

"The Republican party is proud to follow in their footsteps, particularly with respect to economy, lower taxes, decentralization and greater individual freedom."

In obvious reference to the current controversy between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and Army officials, Fritchey wrote:

"It is my hope that you will continue to explore the garden of Jefferson's prose, for he made many observations that are of topical interest, such as his letter to Nathaniel Macon in 1801 in which Jefferson observed that 'The Army is undergoing a chaste reformation.'"

Constable-Candidate Vows Inactivity

MURFREESBORO, Tenn., May 4 (INS)—Tax consultant Roy Smiley today announced his platform for election as constable would be: "inactivity."

Smiley, former Federal Internal Revenue agent, said there are more than enough law enforcement officers now to enforce federal, state and local laws.

The constable works on a fee basis. So, Smiley promised that if he is elected, he won't do anything unless salaried county officers ask his help, thus eliminating necessity for the county to pay him fees for a job he calls "unnecessary."

Soviet Seen as Projecting 'Red Star' Into Heavens

NEW YORK, May 4—The possibility that the Russians might be able to fire into the skies an artificial satellite of the earth that would appear as a "red star" symbolic of Soviet superiority in the upper atmosphere, was presented here today.

The warning was made by an astrophysicist, who has specialized in study of the accomplishments of Soviet rocket engineers. He and other German and American rocket scientists warn that the Russians might be ahead of us in rocket development.

To beat the Russians in establishing an artificial satellite or space platform, another physicist suggested that we start immediately on a 100-pound satellite for scientific purposes only, which, he said, could be in the air by 1957.

The speakers were among 500 scientists, engineers and others interested in rockets, who attended the third annual symposium on space travel at the Hayden Planetarium of the Museum of Natural History.

Walter R. Dornberger, now a missile consultant at the Bell Aircraft Corp., reviewed rocket developments in Europe. Dornberger was in charge of missile and rocket development for the German Reich under Adolf Hitler.

The Russians, Sutton said, have assigned first priority to rocket research. The Soviets are now testing a liquid-propellant rocket engine (the Model 103), which weighs only as much as two American automobiles but develops the thrust (push) of 53 conventional turbojet engines used in ordinary fighter aircraft and five times as much thrust as the German V-2 rocket engine developed under Dornberger's direction.

This gigantic rocket breathes out a flame 160 feet long, Sutton reported. It reaches a temperature of 5,000 degrees Fahrenheit, twice the melting point of steel. The pressure inside the rocket is

ALL RECORDS SMASHED!

by New Metropolitan!

41.6 Miles a Gallon is record of new Metropolitan in 24-hour non-stop economy run under NASCAR supervision at Raleigh Speedway, N. C. At the same time, another Metropolitan on a 24-hour high-speed endurance run, averaged 61.24 miles per hour!

"Economy-Size Nash is Fast and Fancy" reports famed race driver, Wilbur Shaw, president of Indianapolis Motor Speedway, writing in April POPULAR SCIENCE MONTHLY. He writes:

"Been itching for the flair of a European automobile without giving up good old American comfort and flexibility?"

"If you're nodding 'yes' to all these questions, the car for you may be a new 42-horsepower fireball called the Nash Metropolitan. I found this economy-size package as solid as a little tank and scatty as a racer. . . . Close your eyes and this could be the biggest car on the road."

"A car the public helped design" (LIFE magazine) . . . "has top speed of 70 miles an hour . . . two-thirds the size of the standard American automobile, it will travel 40 miles on a gallon of gas."

Revised 'Faust' Rated Opera at Its Grandest

By PAUL JONES

The Met's new production of Gounod's "Faust" as presented Tuesday afternoon at the Fox Theater, was grand opera in its grandest manner.

The tragic work which has been converted into a spectacular show with the most exciting sets one could imagine likely will take the top spot in the hearts of opera lovers here, for we felt after hearing this wonderful opera that anything which follows would be anticlimax.

The new production is swifter in pace, and has an exciting "new look," and, as sung by the galaxy of great stars at the matinee it has been reinstated as a favorite Atlantans will want to hear again and again.

UNIFORM EXCELLENCE

The singing was uniformly excellent. To be sure, Jerome Hines, Victoria de Los Angeles, Frank Guarrera and Eugene Conley shared more generously the fruits of Gounod's great music. But the supporting team of Margaret Roggero, Thelma Votipka and Lawrence Davidson were especially good, too.

The audience's enthusiasm was almost equally divided between the soloists, with first Hines, then Guarrera, then Conley, Miss Los Angeles becoming the favorites for an act or a scene at a time. If there was a pronounced favorite in the cast it was Hines, whose dramatic talents and great voice have many times been recognized in Atlanta.

Hines' smirking, evil Mephistopheles was dramatically perfect. And he has the voice to go with his imposing physique. Guarrera, on the other hand, was a dashing, handsome Valentin and his operatic highlights were space of the excellent production. Conley's first-act recitation was superb and he and Miss Los Angeles found a perfect blending of voices in the impressive love duet. Miss Los Angeles' "Jewel Song" was, as it always is, a

Guarrera Recalls

News of Stork Here

Black-haired baritone Frank Guarrera, replacing ailing Robert Merrill as Valentin in "Faust" at Atlanta's Tuesday afternoon matinee, recalled backstage that two years ago here he learned the good news that he had a baby son.

"Dennis was born in New York while I was on tour in Atlanta," Guarrera smiled. "Nice things always happen to me in Atlanta!"

SCENIC COLOR

The Fair Grounds scene of the first act has been treated with resplendent scenic color, and the waltz ballet which climaxes this scene has been revitalized into one of the most eye-appealing scenes from opera. Other settings embellished the dramatic importance of the show.

Obviously in the interest of time, the Met canceled the first scene of the final act, but this omission did not materially detract from the production. The new version is no longer suitable as a matinee opera when an evening performance is scheduled.

Kurt Adler's sensitive direction made this one of the highlights of this, or any opera season.

CAPITOL NOTEBOOK

Who Is Aided by Candidacy Of Linder? You Judge It

By M. L. ST. JOHN

You be the political judge this morning. The question is: "How does Tom Linder's entry affect the gubernatorial race?"

We think the answer is obvious from the reactions of the other candidates. Let us report their comments and you draw your own conclusions.

House Speaker Fred Hand, upon being informed Linder had announced for governor, was highly pleased. Said Hand: "That is excellent! It assures my election as governor."

Former Acting Gov. M. E. Thompson laughed loudly. Said Thompson: "Good!" And he repeated it a couple of times.

Gubernatorial Candidate Charlie Gowen was jubilant. "The more the merrier!" Gowen chirped.

There was one candidate who was upset over Linder's entry. He was Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin. He issued this sharp comment: "Powerful money factors in Atlanta are frantic in their efforts to try to split my vote. These are the same tactics and same gang that bought Tom Linder's influence in 1943 to defeat the late Gen. Talmadge and elect Ellis Arnall governor. I will beat this crowd to a frazzle regardless of tricks."

After reading these statements, who do you think was helped by Linder's entry? Who was hurt?

Size Up State Posts

The voters of the Bass Community in Atlanta will be able to judge candidates better this year. Each Thursday at 8 p.m. they gather at the Bass Community Center to study the duties, power and qualifications of the state and local offices to be filled in this year's elections. Candidates and personalities are not mentioned—only the offices are discussed.

Tomorrow night the voters will study the offices of U.S. senator, congressmen, state legislators, commissioner of agriculture, commissioner of labor, and public service commissioners. Panel members will include Mrs. Ruth Bonner of the Atlanta Division of the University of Georgia political science department, and Miss Emily Roberts, member of the Atlanta League of Women Voters' board of directors. Questions from the audience will be answered.

Pons' Lovely and Stirring 'Lucia' Wins Atlantans' Hearts and 12 Curtain Calls

By ALEX JOINER JR.

Little Lily wowed a transported Atlanta audience Tuesday night as "Lucia di Lammermoor" at the third of four Metropolitan Opera performances here.

It's 23 years since the tiny French Miss Pons debuted in the same role at the Met.

And all that really need be said is, it would be impossible to compare her up a better-sung, more attractive, or a better-acted Lucia than she was last night.

She took what must be a record 12 curtain calls.

HER TRIUMPH
It was a personal sort of triumph and the obvious affection in the crowd's applause brought back, for the moment, the days of such prima donnas as Galli-Curci, when stars were stars and darned well knew it.

Her "Mad Scene" piped to the far corners of the Fox Theater a flutelike tone and quality that spellbound the capacity crowd into marked quiet.

She wore the handsome gowns designed for her by Valentina with all the perky assurance that has made her name synonymous with that of the tragic Donizetti heroine.

Not that there wasn't some other excellent singing in the performance. There was.

Jan Pearce, singing Edgardo, was in top form and made beautiful work of the second act tenor aria. Frank Valentino, as Lucia's brother Lord Henry Ashton, performed the baritone role with extremely pleasing results.

JOIN SEXTET
Joining with them in the sextet—their surprise moment in the Sir Walter Scott tale—were Thelma Votipka (as Alisa), Thomas Hayward (as Lord Bucklaw), and Nicola Moscona (as Lucia's tutor, Raimondo).

Fausto Cleva was in the pit and reaped a warm round of applause before the second act curtain. Miss Pons, during the curtain calls, acknowledged his artistry, too.

ON OR OFFSTAGE

Met's Stars Fill Atlanta With Song

Metropolitan Opera Company singers put in several "extra" performances during their 1954 Atlanta stay. In addition to performances on the Fox Theater stage and after-the-opera song-fests at supper parties, Margaret Roggero, mezzo-soprano, sang for the Atlanta Rotary Club. Beautiful Roberta Peters autographed her records in a downtown Atlanta department store. And regular residents of the Georgian Terrace reported: "We often heard stars humming or singing snatches of arias in the hotel lobby. They just love to sing anytime, anywhere!"

Overheard between acts at the Tuesday night Met performance of "Lucia di Lammermoor": "How long do you reckon this opera will last anyhow?"

"Well, it's pretty long. I know it takes four long-playing records, so you better figure on getting the Fox theater lobby, turned into a glittering showcase for handsomely gowned opera-goers.

Members of the defense team said they would carry the case to the United States Court of Military Appeals if the verdict was upheld by the review board.

AF CLEARS 69

The Air Force, meanwhile, announced clearance of 69 officers and airmen suspected of misconduct while prisoners of the Communists in North Korea.

A board of five generals, after studying case histories for five weeks, recommended that none of the 83 men whose conduct it investigated should be tried by court martial.

The remaining 14-12 officers and two enlisted men—are to be discharged honorably, the Air Force said, unless they can show cause why they should be retained in the service. They would thus be fully eligible for veterans' benefits.

In the case of these men, the special board heard by Lt. Gen. Idwal H. Edwards (retired), found that their actions had "raised a serious question concerning their continued usefulness in the Air Force."

Nine of the 14 men marked for elimination from the service signed false confessions of bacteriological warfare, as did Col. Frank Schwable. The Marine Corps decided last week not to discipline Col. Schwable.

public by the Air Force, an additional element of contrast with the widely publicized actions of the Army against Cpl. Dickenson and the Marine Corps against Col. Schwable.

EVIDENCE OF DURESS

The board found in all 83 cases sufficient evidence of duress and other extenuating circumstances to eliminate court-martial action against any one of the men.

The Air Force cited these two factors in extenuation:

1. "That the mental and physical torture of prisoners of war by the Communists was something unprecedented in our history."

2. "That briefing of combat crews as to their conduct in the event of capture permitted considerable discretion to the individual and was often confusing."

Arnall, Talmadge Consider Seeking Nominations in '54

Gov. Marvin Griffin and House Speaker Fred Hand, gubernatorial candidates, are administration supporters.

Meanwhile Tuesday, Gubernatorial Candidate Charlie Gowan charged, "Unscrupulous contractors, liquor dealers who seek to sell in dry counties, and interests wishing unreasonable profits in sales to the state all will have their candidates in the gubernatorial race." He expressed confidence the people of Georgia will contribute to his campaign without asking anything except an honest, efficient and progressive administration.

It should be glad tidings that skin dryness need no longer be the bane of your existence. It should be great news that premature, dry-skin "crow's feet" at the corners of your eyes can now be softened into attractive accents for your smile. All this is made possible by the penetrating action of Lanolin Plus Liquid.

Applied at night, certain components of golden Lanolin Plus Liquid penetrate to deliver a new supply of two wonderful things called cholesterol and esters. Nature makes them within your skin. But dry atmosphere and harsh cleansing deplete your skin's supply of these vital requisites to softness and smoothness.

But YOU need not be a victim of skin dryness (due to these causes) anymore. Lanolin Plus LIQUID is rich in cholesterol and esters. It works quickly, too. The very next morning after your first nightly use of it, you will see and feel a definite improvement. Your skin will seem softer, more supple and smoother looking. The horrible feeling of dryness will be gone. Your make-up will go on more smoothly and look lovelier.

Use Lanolin Plus LIQUID every night (and during the daytime as a powder base) and you will join the millions of Lanolin Plus LIQUID users who know that dry skin is unnecessary. Get Lanolin Plus LIQUID at your favorite good store. It is but $1 plus tax. Other Lanolin Plus products are: Lanolin Plus Liquid Make-Up, Lanolin Plus Shampoo, Lanolin Plus Hand Lotion, Lanolin Plus Liquid Cleanser, Lanolin Plus Cleansing Cream, Lanolin Plus For the Hair, and Lanolin Plus Body Lotion.

Hartsfield To Okay 40 Low Speed

Mayor Hartsfield said Tuesday he will approve Atlanta's first minimum speed limit law, but announced he will warn the Aldermanic Board that future traffic ordinances must be submitted to the newly-created Traffic and Transportation Commission before being passed.

Aldermen Monday passed an ordinance fixing 40 miles an hour as the minimum speed limit for vehicles using outside lanes of the expressways. The measure, sponsored by the Police Committee, was offered and passed without having complied with a legislative act stipulating that traffic ordinances must be offered to the Traffic and Transportation Commission before being passed. The maximum speed limit already was fixed at 50 miles an hour.

FAVORS CHANGES

Hartsfield said he has been informed that the commission favors the change, but commission members earlier Monday afternoon insisted that in the future the commission be consulted formally.

During the discussion, retired Army Gen. Alvan Gillem, chairman, said "the commission might as well disband now if it is not to be consulted as provided."

Ald. John A. White, commission chairman, said he would insist that all traffic matters be routed through the commission in the future.

ASKED STUDY

He said he expects to be ready to file a recommendation within about two weeks. The commission had asked the study.

George Goodwin, commission vice chairman and executive secretary of the Legislature-created Transit Study Committee, talked about transportation and its necessity as the commission continued its orientation sessions prior to launching its own attack on Atlanta's traffic problem.

HEAD DRIVE FOR KOREAN REHABILITATION
L-R: Jack F. Glenn, Robert S. Lynch, Fred J. Turner

State Joins in Help Korea Funds, Equipment Drive

Georgia this month joins the nation in a drive to raise funds and equipment for Korean rehabilitation. Gov. Talmadge, honorary chairman of the American-Korean Foundation's nationwide campaign, announced Tuesday.

Talmadge named three Atlanta business and civic leaders to conduct the Georgia campaign. They are:

Robert S. Lynch, president of Atlantic Steel Co., state chairman of the drive; Fred J. Turner, president of Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co., chairman of procuring supplies and equipment; and Jack F. Glenn, assistant president of Citizens and Southern National Bank, chairman of fund raising.

National goal of the drive is $10,000,000 in cash and an equal amount in equipment and supplies. The Georgia quota is $100,000 in cash and 70 carloads of supplies. The American-Korean Foundation was organized at President Eisenhower's request to provide supplies and funds for the Korean people as an expression of faith and goodwill from the American people. Lynch said the equipment and supplies raised in Georgia will move the goods to the West Coast for shipment.

Turner said all types of equipment and supplies are needed. "Anything that is non-perishable or non-combustible—textile products, paper products, canned goods, machinery—anything that will help in rehabilitating war-torn Korea," he said.

Harmon Wants McGill To Return a Stickpin

By ANNE GOWEN

Liquor dealer Murray Harmon and his ex-clerk Howard McGill were back in court Tuesday—this time arguing over a diamond-studded, horseshoe-shaped stickpin.

Harmon, operator of Murray's Liquor Store, claims he "loaned" the stickpin and a diamond ring to McGill. He says he wants both of them back.

McGill, whose wife is Harmon's niece, says Harmon gave them to him as Christmas presents while McGill was working in the liquor store.

McGill and Harmon faced each other in Fulton Superior Court last February at an embezzlement trial where charges of bribery were made against high city officials.

ACQUITTED IN FEBRUARY

McGill was charged with embezzling $127,000 while he worked at the liquor store. He was acquitted on a directed verdict.

The stickpin, a 12-diamond bauble worth about $200, apparently is a trademark of Harmon's thriving Southside liquor trade.

Harmon and his son Luther both sported horseshoes on their ties as they took the witness stand Tuesday during the bail trower hearing before Fulton Civil Court Judge Sam Lowe and a jury.

Harmon said he gave Luther a stickpin and lent others to his father, McGill and Otis Chalmers, another liquor store employee.

DREW STRAWS

Harmon said Chalmers and McGill visited him on Christmas Day, 1951, while he was ill. He said the two employees drew straws to see who would borrow the larger of two pins.

"McGill got the shortest straw and got to wear the smallest

Fatal Rifle Shot Said Accidental

LAKELAND, May 4—Willie James Foster, Negro, was fatally shot recently when a bullet from a .22-caliber rifle discharged, hitting him in the chest.

Sheriff J. F. Studstill of Lanier County, who investigated the shooting, said it was an accident. He said a group of Negro men were on the Perry Carter farm, located between Naylor and Lakeland, when a gun held by Richard Spearman discharged, hitting Foster.

The bidding:

South 1 diamond 1 spade 2 diamonds Pass

West 1 hearts Pass 3 hearts Pass

North 1 hearts Pass 3 hearts Pass

East 1 hearts Pass 3 hearts Pass

Opening lead: King of spades.

The use of a three-card minor suit as a means of initiating the bidding, considered revolutionary in the early days of contract, has come to be accepted as routine by even players of the novice group. In fact, there has been observed a marked tendency on the part of less experienced players to go over this practice. They speak of the "short club" as though it were a system or a convention whereas it is nothing of the sort. Opening the bidding with a short minor is merely for the personal convenience of the opening bidder. It makes no specific announcement, nor does it make any special request as to partner's responses.

Occasionally during the development of the auction, a player will make calls in major suits which are not biddable. They may be ace-showing bids in an effort to ferret out a slam or they may be temporizing bids for the purpose of inducing partner to contract for three no trump.

Bidding a three-card major suit and then going on to play it at game in that denomination is a rarity indeed. Today we present a case from the recent Vanderbilt cup matches, in which my partner Sidney Silodor was hard put for the proper action but came up with an unorthodox but well-thought-out bid.

As South he opened with one diamond, and West overcalled with one spade, a somewhat risky procedure in view of the vulnerability. North had sufficient values for a free bid but could not afford to show the heart suit at the level of two. He therefore contented himself with a raise to two diamonds. Silodor, despite his great strength, was unwilling to consign the hand to an 11-trick contract and temporized with a bid of two hearts, hoping that partner's hand contained a spade stopper which would permit him to make a try at a no-trump contract. North raised to three hearts, which marked him with four of the suit, and South, realizing that no trump was now out of the question, decided to gamble it out at

"... And we are reassured by the fact that brilliant minds are working on the problem of defense against it" (the hydrogen bomb).—Article quote.

The hydrogen bomb is astounding to all... and no one can tell where the next one will fall... but we must go on with our work, or our play... and hope when it does it, will be far away.

The automobile can be dangerous, too... and people get drowned who capsize a canoe... and often we read of some unlucky one... who wounded himself with an "unloaded gun."

Right now, there are folks undergoing repairs... who slipped in the bathtub or fell down the stairs... while some that we know of, and others unknown... have dropped from a ladder and fractured a bone.

The hydrogen bomb is a frightening thing... and nobody knows what tomorrow may bring... but so many dangers imperil our lives... we may be "long gone" when the first one arrives.

four hearts, knowing that the force in spades, if any, could be taken in the short trump hand.

West put up very rugged defense. After cashing two spades, he continued with a third round of the suit which declarer ruffed with the deuce in the South hand. He crossed to dummy with the queen of clubs and took the diamond finesse to West, who returned still another spade. Declarer ruffed with the king of hearts, cashed the ace, reached dummy with a club and drew trumps to claim the balance.

West's defense would have paid off had East held the 10 of hearts instead of himself. Declarer met

Volunteer Fire Station Is Requested For Sandy Springs in Its Petition

A petition calling for erection of a volunteer fire station at Sandy Springs was circulated Tuesday after a mass meeting of citizens at Hammond School auditorium.

Lee Baker, spokesman for the Sandy Springs Businessmen's Assn., which called the meeting, said about 200 citizens attended and most of them signed the petition.

Baker said the proposed station and equipment would cost about $30,000. He said the petition suggests that property owners of Sandy Springs be taxed one-tenth of a mill for maintenance of the station.

Baker said that A. E. Fuller, Fulton County manager, told the citizens that money is available for the station and will be designated for the project if the majority of citizens in the area sign the petition.

ON STAGE IN TIGHT SHOES

Despite the Music and Lily Pons Amateur Extra's Feet Still Hurt

Stage directions for the second scene of Act Two of Lucia Di Lammermoor read: "Enter Arturo, Normanno, lords and ladies of Ashton's family, pages..."

Thomas Haywood was Arturo. Paul Franke was Normanno.

I was a page.

And do my feet hurt!

As one of six "supers," or extras who don't do anything that requires experience, I reported to John Donovan, dresser, to be outfitted in a "Little Lord Fauntleroy" type of costume, complete with knee breeches, white stockings, ruffles and braided coat.

FIRST MISTAKE

My first mistake, contrasted with the other extras who had a full two-performance advantage over me, was that I was wearing brown cordovan shoes. The others wore their black shoes. I had to dig into a large box of assorted costume shoes to find some black ones.

The shoes I finally chose were marked 13. It couldn't have been the size, just an omen of ill-luck for my feet. The high-heeled slippers were about two sizes too small.

Anatol Froloff wiped my face with pancake makeup and put a page boy bob wig on my head, and I hobbled down six flights of stairs to the stage. (Supers are not allowed to ride the elevators).

WAIT AND PRACTICE

We sat in the wings through one act and then received instructions from Etienne Barone, stage manager. I was to hold a flag and practiced diligently, but when the flags were distributed only the first four supers were equipped.

I was left holding the curtain, which I and another page, pulled aside to let Lily Pons as Lucia enter for the first scene of Act Two.

When the second scene began, I was standing at attention at the rear of the set, a hall in Lammermoor's castle.

By BERT SPENCER

My feet hurt, and I couldn't see without my glasses. (I'm near-sighted.) But I was on stage with the Metropolitan.

Miss Pons breezed down a flight of steps near me, followed by Thelma Totipka as Alisa. I winked at her, and she winked back.

BRUISES IN CAPES

Later in the scene, which lasted about 20 minutes, four big bruises in black capes, a quartet of Edgardo's men, obscured what little view I had sans glasses. When the men first entered, led by Jan Pearce, who played Edgardo, a tiny ballerina fell back toward me. My stance of attention was held with great difficulty. She was mighty cute.

The scene ended and I hobbled off.

"Hey, Barone," I said. "My feet hurt."

"You been complaining all night," he replied. "You want to stay on for the next scene?"

My feet said no, and besides, I wanted to be out front to hear Miss Pons sing her mad scene in the Third Act. She sang it, and now my hands hurt, too.

Red-Faced Prof In Wrong Spot

An Emory professor Tuesday night was looking for bright lights and ended up with a red face.

In the dimly-lit upper gallery of the Fox Theater, he searched vainly for a place to read his libretto for the coming act. Finally he pushed through a convenient door and settled back with a sigh under a beaming lamp.

His ecstasy was short-lived.

A moment later he beat a fast retreat from the ladies' powder room.

Many Opera Folk Rarely See Show

It doesn't take a pair of opera glasses to look beneath the surface of the Met.

But it does take a lot of hard-working folks who couldn't hit a musical note with a sledge hammer to produce the onstage glitter which captivates, sellout audiences every year.

These are the folks who dress, press, primp, makeup, calm down and clear the way for the "names" of the opera. It takes a great deal of love for the opera to perform these backstage, glamorous jobs—and the ones who do them very rarely see any performance from curtain to curtain.

STARTED ON TV

Take John Donovan. Donovan is in his first year as wardrobe man for the men's ballet. He started out as a wardrobe man on television. His "big" job there was dressing the stars in Orson Welles' production of King Lear. He did everything but take care of the eyeballs which were popped out of Lear's head in what is now a famous scene in television circles.

How did John get into this kind of work? "Beats me," the 34-year-old Metman said. "I used to dread packing a bag for a week-end trip. Now I pack and unpack a hundred costumes a night!" Since joining the Met he hasn't seen one entire performance.

Then there's Rosie (for Rose) Calamari. Rosie is tailor, maid and mother for some 20 girls in the ballet. She has been for the last 25 years. She's dressed such famous names as Ruthina Boris (when she was just a member of the chorus). The easiest night in her career with the opera was the night the cast sang "Carmen" in Atlanta in street clothes. The costumes hadn't arrived. That's one of the few times Rosie ever got to see an opera performance all the way through.

RAMROD OF WINGS

The ramrod of the wings is a short, intense man named Barone. He warns the stars when curtain time is approaching, tutors the "supers" (college boys who carry spears and flagpoles for a dollar a performance), and keeps things operating in general. Barone is not without a sense of humor. He taps on one star's door, informs her "five minutes to curtain," remarks:

"Glad you can be with us to night..."

Overheard: One enthusiastic booster during a between acts session in the lobby: "Man, this is too much!" His less enthusiastic comrade: "Yeah, so was the price of the tickets."

Candid snapshots: A trumpet player in the orchestra warming up in the basement by blowing a tune on a half-filled soft-drink bottle. . . . A touch of home scrawled in chalk on the stairwell door backstage: "W. 39th St. entrance" (one of the stage doors at the New York Opera House).

. . . Four members of the chorus engrossed in a game of gin rummy between acts. . . . and a half-dozen uniformed chauffeurs playing stud poker in a parking lot nearby. . . . A ballet girl twirling in a preperformance practice session on stage with a six-inch rip

in her tights. . . . Lily Pons complaining that her throat "is so sore it feels like it's full of needles," then taking 12 curtain calls for her performance in the "mad" scene. . . . A chicken farmer who drove 175 miles to attend Tuesday night's performance had to park eight blocks away and take a cab to the theater. . . . And a final curtain call to a local lady,

Shirley Bowers, who runs a concession stand in the lobby. Shirley fell "up" the stairs Monday night, served orange juice for the rest of the performance, showed up Tuesday night on crutches—with a broken foot.

LANE DRUG STORES

An appeal to reason

A few thoughts on the battle of the adjectives in current gasoline advertising

The public must be bewildered these days. We're astounded ourselves. Claims and counter claims about gasolines have been flying around for months. New claims are out, others may be on the way.

No doubt you have noted the keen competition in the statement of claims . . . power increased a given per cent, engine life increased a greater per cent and valve performance increased even more. There are claims to correct spark plug troubles of which Amoco users are not even aware.

Way back in 1910, the American Oil Company published a creed: "Our policy is to offer honest values, honestly described; to market distinctive and better products; to work constantly towards their improvement; to sell them at fair prices; to render efficient service." We haven't changed a word of this today.

The American Oil Company's premium gas is Amoco-Gas. A few weeks ago we published an advertisement headed: "Excuse us! Count us out of the additive race, because Amoco-Gas needs no additive." We have elected instead to bear any cost necessary to give the motorist the finest product that science can produce.

We have no desire to get into the battle of the adjectives. We have always had the performance of our products exceed our claims for them. We ask you to make your own tests and come to your own conclusions.

PEEKING IN A BOUDOIR KEYHOLE ISN'T CRICKET BUT HERE'S SHORTIE PAJAMA NEWS
Seated Is Shellee Ashley in Tailored Broadcloth. Wielding Pillow Is Sylvia Oestericher

Shortie Pajamas, Brief Nighties Make Fashion Dreams Come True

By AGNES McCARTY

After "cat's pajamas" went out of the American vocabulary, sleepwear didn't make exciting conversation until shortie pajamas and brief nightgowns appeared.

Now bedtime fashions are as imaginative and varied as bedtime stories were before TV arrived.

This bright-colored dreamwear is available in practical cotton broadcloth, cotton plisse and rayon. It also comes in luxurious silk shantung, sheer handkerchief lawn and many other fine fabrics.

TROUSSEAU STYLES

Some short styles are hand-embroidered and smocked to dress them up for a trousseau. The cute and comfy numbers are usually patterned after playclothes with sleeveless shirts and ballooning bloomers most frequently seen.

Available in Atlanta is a blue and white polka dot plisse shortie pajama that sells for only $2.98. Wide straps go over the shoulder and a shirred ruffle goes all around the bodice. Elastic shirring shapes the waistline and comfortably holds in the legs of the bloomer pants. This style is also available in green and white or red and white.

Pajamas that could just as well be used for a nap on the beach are of window-pane checked cotton broadcloth. The shirttail blouse buttons all the way up the front to a shirtwaist collar. There's a big patch pocket for hankies or perhaps a piece of wedding cake to dream on—it's really practical because these pajamas are sanforized and easily laundered. The pants of this shortie pajama are slightly bloused. Price of two-piece sleepwear is $3.98.

SHORTIE

A luxurious fine lawn pegoir and coordinated nightgown are perfect for the June bride's trousseau. The demure flowered pegoir has puffed sleeves, a wide stand-up ruffle at the neckline and a matching wide ruffle around the flowing skirt. A bit of satin ribbon pulls through beading at the waistline.

The nightie has a matching print bodice, cut low, with a plain white, full skirt hemmed with a wide ruffle of imported lace. Pegoir is priced at $29.98 while gown sells for $17.98.

When selecting pajamas or a nightgown buy one size larger than regular dress size.

DEMURE TROUSSEAU PEGNOIR

Modeled by Shirley Lewis

Close fitting styles are right for snoring wolves but uncomfortable for counting sheep.

Try wearing colors that blend with your bedroom decor. They will be more becoming if you have a harmonizing background.

All fashions are available in Atlanta. For shopping information call WA. 5050, ext. 397.

Teen-Ager Has Stars In His Eyes

By YOLANDE GWIN

An 18-year-old Atlanta college student had stars in his eyes as he played "Happy Birthday" on the piano Tuesday night with high salaried song birds of the Met chiming in as a tribute to one of their members—Roberta Peters.

"I had no idea that I was to play for the stars," said Lannie Waggoner, who is majoring in music at the Atlanta Division of the University of Georgia under Hugh Hodgson. "Believe me it is an experience I shall never forget."

Miss Peters celebrated her 24th birthday anniversary at a party given by her Atlanta hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Selig, at their home on Paces Ferry Road.

Young Waggoner, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Waggoner, of Cheshire Bridge Road, who said he had been taking music lessons since he was four years old "played background music, light classical mostly," for the party which marked the third year the brilliant young Met star has been in Atlanta on the auspicious date.

"It's just a buffet supper," said Mrs. Selig, all dressed up in a chiffon model as blue and beautiful as the Mediterranean. "But the cake, it's out of this world, with blue and white icing and candles."

Mrs. Ruth Peters, Roberta's mother, wore white lace, while Lynn, the Seligs' teen-age daughter, was in blue and white organza. And Al Selig, the host, not to be outdone by the "girls," confided to friends that he got a new white tie for Roberta's party. "My same suit, though," he added.

Milanov Eyes 'Cool' Reception

By BETTY CARROLLTON

The Met's "Primadonna Assoluta" of the Italian division got a cool reception weather-wise on arrival here.

But Zinka Milanov, fabulous Yugoslavian soprano, expects a warm reception audiencewise at tonight's performance of La Forza Del Destino.

"American audiences are wonderful," declared the auburn-haired diva, "and I am especially fond of the audiences here. Atlanta loves opera."

One of the brightest stars of the Metropolitan Opera, Madame Milanov is famous in Europe, Latin America and Canada, as well as in the United States. Not only is she a favorite with opera and concert-goers, but she has been guided by the baton of some of the most famous conductors, including Toscanini and Bruno Walter. She has shared the stage with Maestro Toscanini in concert halls of three continents.

SCOLDING INSPIRING

According to the brown-eyed soprano, a scolding from Toscanini is more inspiring than the most extravagant praise from other conductors.

"Toscanini is a perfectionist," the singer pointed out. "In a disagreement with another conductor, I might reasonably feel it was a question of his interpretation against mine. But with Toscanini, he knows every detail of every score down to the most minute accent and tonal inflection. The performance he demands is always exactly the performance that the composer intended."

"It is very sad news that the Maestro has retired," she added.

In private life, Mme. Milanov is the wife of Ljubo Ilitsch, the Yugoslav ambassador to Mexico and former Yugoslav ambassador to Norway. At the close of the opera season, she will join her husband at his diplomatic post.

The talented singer reigns "Primadonna Assoluta" at home, too. She gives the same attention, intense concentration and flair to her role of wife and hostess as she does to any Leonora, Aida or Santuzza. She enjoys, career permitting, preparing her special Yugoslavian dishes.

PIE DANGEROUS

Here, her favorite foods are strictly American—steak and roast beef. "I practically live on steak," she said, "and I love a baked potato, but I am not supposed to eat it. I don't mind a piece of pie now and then, but even that is very dangerous to my diet." The diva has lost considerable weight during the past few months and she hopes to "keep it down." She is on a Mayo Clinic diet, which she declares is "wonderful," although it does not allow her to eat starchy foods.

Mme. Milanov prefers conservative clothes. On her arrival here, she was dressed in her favorite color duo, black and white. Her dress was of fine check and she wore a small black sequined hat, accented with black feather and a veil.

The popular soprano does not approve of costume jewelry. "I suppose I am old-fashioned that way," she said, "for me, it must be real or nothing." She especially likes diamonds and pearls.

The Ilitschs have no children.

"My music is my child," declared the ambassador's wife. "When you sing, there is no freedom whatsoever. The demanding parts require all your attention. It is very hard work all year. But I am going to take two months off this summer when I join my husband in Mexico." It will be the star's first trip to that country and she declared she is eagerly looking forward to her visit south of the border.

Mme. Milanov does not have a favorite role. "I have been fortunate," she declared, "to love all the parts I have had. To me, they were all the same, and I've loved all of them."

Celestine Sibley A Memorial For Peggy

Some of the people who go to the 15th anniversary premiere of "Gone With the Wind" May 20, will pay $50 for their tickets. That's a sizable chunk of money to pay for anything this side of a seat in heaven and it makes you wonder just what the holders of those fancy loge seats are buying with their money.

Of course, everybody knows that the Atlanta Smith Club is cosponsoring the premiere and selling a block of loge seats at platinum prices for the specific purpose of putting in operation their old dream of having a scholarship to her college as a memorial to Margaret Mitchell.

But why is such a scholarship a good memorial? I asked three members of the Atlanta group of women who went to that school themselves. They don't pretend that the fact that Margaret Mitchell went there is enough although, oddly enough, Peggy's family and many of her friends feel that her year at Smith may have been responsible in a measure for her great book. It gave her a chance to get away and get a new perspective on her native Southland, to see with a heightened appreciation some of the things she may have taken for granted, they say.

But Smith College itself is the real reason these women feel that scholarships for four Georgia girls will be an extremely valuable memorial to the state's most famous woman. The college, situated in Northampton, Mass., is one of the most respected women's colleges in the land. It was founded 75 years ago with money provided by Sophia Smith, a sturdy New England woman who was convinced "that by the higher and more thorough Christian education of young women what are called their 'wrongs' will be redressed, their wages adjusted, their weight of influence in reforming the evils of society will be greatly increased, as teachers, as writers, as mothers, as members of society, their power for good will be incalculably enlarged."

Mary Ellen Chase, a well-known author, is professor of English at Smith College and I liked her definition of the school which she has been a part of for 23 years. She echoes the absurdities and nonsense about "the ivory towers and sheltered walls of a college" and says simply: "We are a quiet, unsheltered community of some 2,500 fellow-students, some teaching and some being taught, all, let us hope, studying and thinking together."

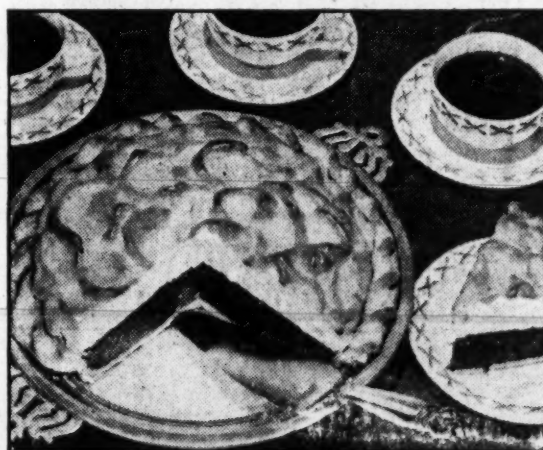

"As in any such community we have the superior and the average, the grave and the frivolous, the rich and the poor, the potential scholar and the charming hostess, the rural and the urban from every state in the Union and from foreign countries as well. . . . I respect the fact that on this campus we like stout ideas and convictions of every conceivable sort, old and new, traditional and modern, and are not afraid of them; that the one thing we are afraid of is apathy and indifference toward learning and toward life."

Lost 62 lbs. HEALTH IMPROVES

ROME, GA. "I am 66 yrs. old and have been using Anaro for a year. When I started taking Anaro I weighed 227 lbs. I now weigh 165 lbs. I was constipated and Anaro has also solved this problem. I look better, feel better and my health is better in every way." So writes Mrs. J. L. Botts, Route 24.

The Anaro Concentrate home recipe is proven and recommended by thousands of your Georgia neighbors. Anaro is available at your druggist for $1.40. Ask for free booklet. Manufacturer will refund if you're not satisfied with results from first bottle.

What every good cook knows:

Just a little difference in ingredients makes a big difference in cooking results

Snowdrift is just a little lighter than any other shortening—and that can make the big difference in giving your family lighter, more digestible foods.

Snowdrift is pre-whipped just a little longer than ordinary shortenings. That can make the big difference in easier, quicker cutting-in for flaky and tender pastry.

Snowdrift's ingredients are just a little costlier than any other solid shortening (yet you pay no more). That can make the big difference in better tasting foods, whether baked or fried.

No other shortening at any price is so creamy, so digestible—and so light!

Miss Annie Ruth Thompson, James R. McLain Are Wed

Wearing the Chantilly lace and tulle wedding gown of her sister, Mrs. John F. Ricketson Jr., Miss Annie Ruth Thompson became the bride of James Ronald McLain at the Sandy Springs Methodist Church recently with the Rev. Dumas B. Sheinut officiating.

After the ceremony, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Thompson Sr., were hosts at a reception at their home on Heard drive. Mr. McLain is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James O. McLain of Jessup.

Howell Sapp was best man for Mr. McLain, and in the double role of usher-groomsman were Dick H. Smith and James A. Thompson Jr.

Mrs. Ricketson was matron of honor for her sister, and another sister, Miss Nancy Thompson, and Miss Jeanne Heard were junior bridesmaids. Misses Gerrie Lowry and Edythe Billie kept the bride's book at the reception.

After a Miami honeymoon, the couple will reside in Atlanta.

Mrs. Arthur Lippold To Entertain Club

Mrs. Arthur Lippold, president of the Country Hills Garden Club will entertain her members on Wednesday at her home on Peachtree-Dunwoody road.

In preparation for the annual flower show on May 12, Mrs. L. B. Whitehead will demonstrate the art of making arrangements in a niche.

Annie Lou Hardy Parties Galore Fete Opera Visitors

With no after-opera party scheduled at the clubs for Tuesday evening, Atlantans and their opera visitors did their partying before the opera, with most of the feminine contingent beginning early in the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Vasser Woolley, who rushed home from New York to greet their guests, Mr. and Mrs. George Baker of Gainesville, entertained at cocktails and a buffet before the opera at their Techwood Dr. home. Other visitors at their party were Mrs. Julian Strickland of Valdosta and Mrs. John Pickett of Cedartown.

Mrs. Maynard Smith invited a group of friends for brunch at the Capital City Club's Mirador Room to give them plenty of time to get to the matinee. Honor guests for her party were Mrs. Arch Avey's visitor, Mrs. Hugh Agricola of Gadsden, Ala., and Mrs. William Searcy of Thomasville.

Another hostess entertaining before the opera was Mrs. Holcombe Green who gave a luncheon for her guest, Mrs. James A. Jones of Charlotte, inviting a group of Agnes Scott friends to her Peachtree Battle Ave. residence.

Mrs. Green and Mrs. Jones were roommates at Agnes Scott. The latter will be joined on Wednesday by her husband, Dr. Jones, who is minister of the Myers Park Presbyterian Church of Charlotte.

One of the most attractive visitors is Mrs. Joseph Rault of New Orleans who is receiving much social attention as the guest of Miss May Haverly on W. Wesley Rd. On Wednesday, Mrs. Clarence Haverly will entertain at the Opera Guild luncheon in Mrs. Rault's honor, and on Thursday Mrs. John Turner will be hostess at luncheon at the Capital City Country Club. The visitor will return home on Friday.

Mrs. Robert M. Beard of Shelbyville, Ky., who is visiting Mrs. Seth Mellen, will remain through the week as her guest. On Friday evening she will share honors with Mrs. Fred Cockrell, who is just back from a two-month trip to South America, at the dinner to be given by Dr. and Mrs. John B. Duncan at their home on Palisades Rd.

A COLUMBUS VISITOR coming for the Tuesday operas only was Mrs. Cabell Hopkins who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Linton Hopkins on Peachtree Battle Ave.

MISS BARBARA BROWN, who is majoring in music at Wesleyan College, is the opera guest of Mrs. Norman W. Gibson on Lanier Boulevard. She was Mrs. Olin Cofer's guest for opera Tuesday evening.

RETURNING FROM FLORIDA on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dobbs Jr. who accompanied Mrs. R. H. Dobbs Sr. to her home in West Palm Beach after a visit here. They have as their opera guests Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Deering of Savannah.

HERE FROM ROME is Mrs. G. A. Taylor, an annual opera visitor, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. William C. Wardlaw Jr., on Peachtree Battle Ave.

AN OPERA DEVOTEE from Monroe who is here for the season is Mrs. Orrin Roberts. She is a guest at the Georgian Terrace.

A NORTH CAROLINA VISITOR is Mrs. W. D. Simmons Jr. of High Point who is the guest for a week of her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Fisher of Stovall Blvd.

SOUTH AMERICAN VISITORS here are Mrs. Elberto Gonzalez-Rubio B and her children, Elberto Jr. and Patti, of Barranquilla, Colombia, who will spend the summer with the former's mother, Mrs. John M. Harrison of Otme Circle.

MRS. ALFRED H. SHAFER JR. of Jacksonville is at the Georgian Terrace for opera. Mrs. Eugene Adams of Decatur entertained at luncheon in Mrs. Shafer's honor Tuesday.

MRS. DOUGLAS BOYD and Miss Elva Boyd are just back from Chicago where they visited Dr. and Mrs. Douglas Boyd Jr.

Advice to Women who can't sleep!

If lack of sleep is ruining your position, health and looks—the time to do something about it is now. According to authorities most sleeplessness in women is caused by worry and tension. The longer you wait the harder it is to get back your natural sleeping habit. Fortunately for you, a doctor has discovered a safe, non-habit-forming sleeping capsule that is now helping thousands of women to get the sleep they need. It is called Dormin, and contains no narcotics, bromides or barbiturates. You wake up bright and peppy because Dormin helps promote natural sound sleep without any drug-like hangover. SLEEP—WITHOUT DRUGS Dormin has been clinically tested and proved completely safe. According to Dormin users, it affords sound, healthful sleep without any jittery after effects. Dormin is available at drugstores without a prescription at reasonable cost—$2.25 for a bottle containing 36 sleep-producing capsules—only 61¢ each. Dormin is guaranteed by its makers to promote sleep or money is returned. Get Dormin from your druggist—and sleep tonight! Accept no substitute. There is NO substitute for Dormin.

DAILY GUIDE—This is the day when the women may change their minds a little more often than usual. The fair sex can be full of surprises today. Entertainment should be witty and unexpectedly different. As you can see there is a slightly frivolous atmosphere today. Quick friendships might spring up, but do not expect such meetings to lead to any lasting attachment. Keep the conversation light and gay, and be careful that you do not spend too much on pleasure. All this week those with birthdays from April 26 to May 4 can be extra popular and social. In fact, all Taurus (April 20-May 20) should be enjoying this week and next as this is when their stock is extra high.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, TAURUS! Are you having fun? You should be—as this is an especially popular season for you. Push all your projects in the next two weeks. You may be able to cash in on some last minute opportunities. In the summer and fall things can be rather hectic because of changes in your everyday environment, because of unpredictable actions of near relatives or neighbors.

YOU MAY HAVE AND NOT KNOW IT!

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infect one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do...and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

On Spurt in Rails

Hits Fourth Peak of Year Before Selloff at Closing

NEW YORK, May 4 (U.S.)—The stock market advanced today with railroads in a strong position and established its fourth consecutive new high for the year, the best of the past 24 years.

The forward movement today was far from unanimous, and just before the close a selloff cut deeply into gains and threw many other stocks back from sizable advances.

Ahead with the railroads were motors, oils, rubbers, radio-televi- sions, chemicals, and the utilities. The steels and aircrafts ran into difficulties and were lower along with most coppers, distillers, and electrical equipments.

Many brokers feel that the market is going through a phase of consolidation at the moment, taking adjustments in its stride. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 60 cents at $112.40, a new high for the year.

Lockheed Aircraft was the day's most active issue with a loss of 1 1/2 at 34 on 36,000 shares. After 1 1/2 at 34, directors declared a dividend of 50 cents, the same as paid in March. It was followed by Southern Pacific off 1/4 at 43 1/2. Columbia Gas off 1/4 at 14 1/2. General Dynamics up 1/4 at 46 1/2. and Pepsi-Cola off 1/4 at 14 1/2.

Sharon Steel, which lost 3/4 yesterday on a poor earnings report, was down 1 1/2 at 28 1/2 today. Radio Corp. gained 1/4 at 28 after reporting its biggest first quarter business in its history.

Volume improves. The market started lower, improved a bit when the railroads gathered strength, and then sold off at the close. Volume accelerated on the rise and came to 1,990,000 shares. That compares with 1,870,000 shares traded yesterday.

Sales Tax Report Shows 7 Pct. Gain

By JIM MONTGOMERY

Healthy statewide sales conditions for the first two months of 1954 were highlighted in a retail sales report just issued by the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce.

Official sales tax figures revealed the February volume of $279,705,237 was some 7 per cent higher than the January total of $263,096,262.

January retail activity in Georgia ran about 3.5 per cent ahead of the same month a year ago, while February sales topped those of the same month in 1953 by nearly 7.5 per cent.

Total sales for January and February of 1953 were slightly over $253.8 million and $260.5 million respectively, according to State Department of Revenue records.

Fulton County sales climbed to more than $70.7 million in February from $66.4 million in January. These figures were well ahead of those for 1953 when they were $68.1 million in February and $63.3 million in the opening month.

In Chatham County, which showed the second highest sales volume in the state, this year's February figure topped $20.5 million ($1 million above the same month a year ago) while in January it was $18.9 million, slightly ahead of 1953's corresponding month.

January and February 1954 sales varied only a little in DeKalb and Cobb Counties ($7.7 million and $5.5 million respectively), but both upped sales a million dollars or more above the same months a year ago.

Walter Cates, the chamber's executive vice president, pointed out that the majority of Georgia's 159 counties shared in the gains.

"This encouraging upward sales trend reflects the current sound economy of Georgia and is influenced to a great extent by our new industrial payrolls, greater tourist income and the influx of new residents," he declared.

Construction Shows Gain

Construction activities in the Southeast and other sections of the nation at the end of the first four months of this year were well ahead of those during the same period in 1953. The Atlanta field office of the U. S. Commerce Department reported Tuesday. It said total new construction from January through April had increased 2 per cent over the same period a year ago, and included an advance of 3 per cent in private building.

Dollar Continues to Dip

The dollar dip continues. Its purchasing value in February, according to the National Industrial Conference Board, was 54.4 cents. That represented a decrease of 2.7 per cent from a year ago when the dollar was valued at 55.9 cents (January, 1939, dollar—100 cents).

Bakery Income Put At $1,238,249

American Bakeries Co. Tuesday reported consolidated net income after federal taxes for the 16 weeks ended April 24 of $1,238,249, or 73 cents a share on 1,596,193 shares of common stock outstanding.

During the like period of 1953 (prior to the merger) combined net income totaled $1,262,294, equivalent to 74 cents a share.

Iron Fireman Men To Open 2-Day Meet

Wool Textile Raise in Pay Held Up by Federal Judge

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—

Federal District Judge Edward A. Tamm today stayed the effect of a labor department order boosting from $1.05 to $1.20 an hour the minimum wage required on government contracts in the wool and worsted textile industry.

The higher rate was to have gone into effect Friday, May 7. It was ordered by Secretary of Labor Mitchell after hearings in which he found that $1.20 was the prevailing minimum wage in the industry.

More than a score of wool mill firms sought an injunction from

Tamm contending that no increase in the present $1.05 an hour minimum wage was justified. The companies also argued that separate minimums should be fixed for various localities.

Mitchell told a news conference yesterday he felt the department's long-standing policy of fixing nationwide minimums for government orders was correct under the Walsh-Healey act. He said he felt it was proper, from the standpoint of fair competition, to have the same minimum for all bidders on government contracts.

Details of Tamm's order will become known when it is formally drafted and signed in a day or two, Tamm more than a year ago restrained the government from proceeding with a minimum wage boost for workers on government orders in the cotton textile industry.

As in the cotton case, Tamm today specified that the wool manufacturers must post bond to guarantee that, if the government wins the case on its merits, workers having received less than $1.20 an hour would get the higher rate.

The cotton textile order was enjoined in February, 1953. It would have boosted the minimum wage for government contract work from 87 cents to $1.00 an hour in that industry. The case never has gone to trial.

Half of EAL Service To Be Air Coach

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP)—Eastern Air Lines will convert more than 50 per cent of its trunkline service to lower fare air coach operations May 16, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, chairman of the board, announced today.

He told a press conference the action is being taken in view of the readjustment going on in the nation's economy. The public, he said, wants more for less.

Currently, 22 per cent of Eastern's service is in the air coach class. Rickenbacker said that with its new services, Eastern will provide capacity for about 1 1/2 million air coach passengers annually. Day and night coach flights will link 25 major cities in 24 states and Puerto Rico, he added.

Night air coach rates will be about 4 cents a mile and day coach fares 4 1/2 cents. First-class fares average 5 1/2 cents a mile. By the end of 1955, Rickenbacker said, Eastern expects coach flights to make up 60 or 65 per cent of its service.

He predicted that airlines will find the going tough until about the fall of 1956, when a pickup should begin.

He emphasized that the cost of equipment, supplies and labor has risen steadily while air fares are cheaper than they were 10 years ago.

GE Dedicates Rome Plant On Tuesday

Five thousand visitors are expected to attend the open house and formal dedication of the General Electric Co. 25-million-dollar Rome power transformer plant next Tuesday, D. B. Lawton, plant manager, said Tuesday.

It will be the public's first look at the highly mechanized, modern plant, first to be built for mass production of power transformers. Units weighing from four to 30 tons each will be produced in the plant for utility and industrial companies in the South and throughout the nation.

When operating at full capacity, by the end of 1955, the plant will employ about 1,800 workers.

General Electric President Ralph J. Cordiner, Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin and Lawton will be principal speakers at the dedication ceremony scheduled for 2 p.m. Plant tours will begin immediately after the ceremony.

A highlight of the celebrations will be a barbecue given by the Rome Chamber of Commerce for nearly 1,000 guests the evening before dedication day. Gov. Talmadge and Cordiner will speak.

Every day, more people are taking steps to protect their investment programs against unexpected changes in the business weather. They're doing it the best way—the bank way—with C&S Savings Certificates.

Here is the one investment that gives you these two prime advantages: the earning power of a high-grade bond, plus all the safety of a bank account—all in one convenient package. It's real, built-in security. It's bank-guaranteed!

Ever-growing millions of Georgia dollars, from individuals and institutions, too, are being put to work in C&S Savings Certificates. A mighty bulwark of savings and security. Make your dollars work harder! Get the whole story on this sensible bank investment today.

Why C&S Savings Certificates are the Investment Hit of the Year

- 1—Certain Income: 2 1/2% interest if held to maturity. Highest rate an insured bank can pay, and it's bank-guaranteed. Interest starts the day you buy.
- 2—Safe Principal: Bank-guaranteed and insured up to $10,000 by the FDIC like any other bank deposit.
- 3—Short-term Maturity: Your full investment, plus interest, returned in two years.
- 4—Liquid Asset: Good as loan collateral up to full value. Redeemable for cash on 90 days' notice.
- 5—Convenience: Two types available in $100 units or larger. Type "A" pays interest at maturity. Type "B" (minimum purchase amount $500) pays interest by check every six months.

Formula for Pleasant Dinner Talk

NEW YORK (AP)—Recipe for a pleasant dinner party: Don't let the guests discuss the McCarthy-Stevens hearings. We tried it, and it worked out fine. There are many uncertainties in life. The one certainty is that an anti-McCarthy supporter, or vice versa. The only thing that changes is blood pressure. . . . Jockey Shoemaker, after the Derby, was asked how the favorite had lost: "I rode like a shoemaker," he moaned. Phil Regan, iron-nerved singer, who always gets into the Derby pictures, actually got his hands on the Derby bowl this time and then—dropped it! The kid's losing his grip.

Belief that Coast breeders could develop only sprinters knocked galley-west by Determine's victory over the 1 1/4 mile distance. It's a great boost for the Pacific Coast horse industry.

Cary Grant, Bill Holden, Lana Turner, Spencer Tracy, Irving Berlin in town. Grant sails May 11 on the Caronia. . . . Paul Muni penning his memoirs. . . . Montgomery Clift and Libby Holman an unusual combination. . . . The Ken Murrays expect the Stork. . . . Margaret Lindsay to wed Willis Wardlaw.

Ann Southern prefers John Beck. . . . Garbo mulling Stanley Kramer's offer of the Swedish nurse in "Not as a Stranger." . . . Jayne Meadows busy decorating Steve Allen's new apartment. . . . "Kismet" hitting $58,000 weekly. . . . Veronica Lake and Cy Coleman dating.

Lana Turner Prince Christian of Hanover dating Joan Crawford's niece, Joan Lowe.

TV Private Eyes in Rut, Pioneer Sam Spade Says

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD, May 4 (AP)—Howard Duff, who set the pattern for radio and television detectives with his Sam Spade show, says TV detectives are in a rut—they never do any detecting.

The actor, who says detectives ain't what they used to be, devotes his time to movie roles these days, but he still can't get away from playing a private eye.

"I play a gumshoe in my next picture," Duff said, "and I can't begin to count how many detectives I've played in my career."

"I've done so many of them that I don't pay too much attention any more."

Duff said not only has the TV detective forgotten how to detect, he's also lost his sense of humor. "Old Sam Spade used to get in plenty of hassles, but his sense of humor usually came to his rescue. Fictional detectives these days seem to have lost their ability to get a few yaks out of a situation."

"Another thing that bothers me," he continued, "is all the brutality on the air."

Duff thought a minute and then rapped Mickey Spillane for popularizing the detective-sadist.

"Spillane really went overboard," the actor said. "There isn't a guy like his character in the entire business. How long would a guy like that last?"

Duff shook his head over the way TV cops are kicked around by tough detectives who solve all the mysteries while the police are running up blind alleys.

"It's okay for a couple of private eyes to work that way—just to be different. But every detective in the business makes monkeys out of the cops," he said. "The cops finally got a break

Divorces Rated 50-50 Affairs

Clara B., 28, has been married five years.

"Two years after our wedding, I learned that Fred was having an affair with another woman," she confessed, miserably.

"Finally, I accused him of it and he told me all the sordid details. Apparently, it had started while I was pregnant with our first baby."

"He vowed it would never happen again, so I believed him and we made up. But it did happen again, not more than a year later."

"That one faded out but now he has a fresh one starting with a girl at the factory. It began at a tavern and he meets her there two or three nights a week."

"Yet he says I am the best woman in the world and for me just to be patient with him. Dr. Crane, what is wrong?"

TRIANGLE AFFAIRS

It usually takes two good women to make a good husband. The first of these should be his mother.

If she fails to teach her son to become a self-reliant man, considerate and unselfish, but by her sins of omission lets him develop into a grandstanding, unscrupulous male, then even an angel from heaven may not be able to make a success of marriage to him.

Fred's first unfaithfulness

They'll Do It Every Time

might have been due to his wife's pregnancy. For at that time, many a woman subconsciously appears to be a medical specimen.

So her husband subconsciously shifts from an attitude of sweetheart ardor, to one of respectful devotion to an ailing wife.

In such a dilemma, he soon grows worried over his waning erotic feelings for his mate. An emotional barrier soon may develop between them.

This scares him into fearing he may be impotent. So he may be driven to drink by this gnawing, secret terror. And he will not even think of confessing his worry to his wife.

For men are hypersensitive on this point. By accident or otherwise, such a husband may finally enter into an "affair," due largely to liquor and his dread of impotence. Such a triangle affair is not uncommon, even in enlightened modern America.

WIVES, BE SMART

Smart wives should never let such a situation develop. Just because you are expecting a baby, is no reason why you should suddenly act like a hospital patient and quit going to movies.

Double your efforts at this time just to make sure you prevent your husband from subconsciously thinking you are "medical" instead of seductive.

For the thought of hospitals and medicines and doctors, not only can kill the average person's hunger for food, but it can likewise inhibit his appetite for affection and marital relations.

Since a man's erotic hunger is several times as great as that of his wife, she must never succumb to the fallacy of thinking "I'm satisfied so my husband must be satisfied, too."

Special to The Atlanta Constitution
WASHINGTON, May 4—Atty. Gen. Brownell will announce soon establishment of a new Division of Internal Security in the Department of Justice.

It will handle cases involving espionage, treason, sabotage, federal employee loyalty or security risks, subversive activities of any nature—in fact, all court proceedings dealing with matters affecting the internal security of the United States and its possessions.

The division will be headed by an assistant attorney general having equal status with the seven other officials of that rank now in the department. It will be the first new division set up in the department in a number of years.

ADDRESS PLANNED
Justice department officials would not comment today on plans that have been formulated quietly in recent weeks nor would they say when public announcement would be forthcoming. It was considered probably, however, that Brownell might disclose details of the plan in an address this weekend.

The decision to create a Division of Internal Security reflects concern over such problems that have been manifested by Brownell and his associates since the Eisenhower administration came into office. The attorney general has said in several public statements and addresses that stamping out subversive activities was a major problem of law enforcement.

Some of the procedures established to deal with internal security matters have been widely criticized. This was particularly true of the order issued in April, 1953, which established basic security standards for federal employees.

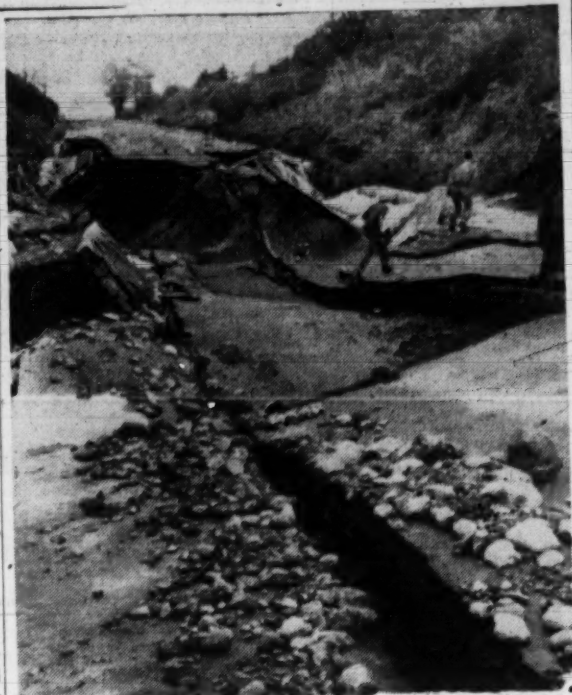

MUCH OF CRITICISM
The fact that the line of demarcation between actual subversion and lesser security risks was not finely drawn gave rise to much of the criticism. It was felt by many that persons denied government employment or dismissed from it might be branded as disloyal when they were "security risks" solely because of personal habits or indiscreet associations.

Brownell, however, has stuck to his position that the administration's internal security program is fair and that under it several thousand poor risks have been weeded out.

It was understood that the new division would implement, but would not supplant, the work now being performed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Victim Won't Board 'Copter 83 Mi. at Sea

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP)—A Coast Guard helicopter sped 83 miles out over the Atlantic today to bring an injured fishing boat crewman here for medical aid, but the man became so terrified of the whirling rotors he refused to board the craft.

The 25-year-old crewman had stuck an ice pick in one eye. The Coast Guard said it did not know the man's name.

The helicopter was accompanied to a rendezvous with the 71-foot fishing craft North Star by two Coast Guard planes. The ocean was too rough for the planes to land on the water.

The man was placed in a small boat to the stern of the North Star so the helicopter could pick him up without damaging the fishing vessel. But a Coast Guard official said the little boat was rocked so hard by the wind stirred by the helicopter the man would not budge.

The helicopter hovered above the man until its gasoline ran low and then returned to New York.

The Coast Guard also sent a 95-foot patrol boat, its fastest vessel, to the scene. It was expected to arrive in time for the man to land him here early tomorrow.

Corporate Tax Extension Okayed by Senate Group

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee has voted to extend the 52 per cent corporation tax rate through March 31, 1955, a member reported today.

This extension was asked by President Eisenhower and was included in the omnibus tax revision bill as passed by the House.

The corporate rate dropped to 47 per cent April 1 but it can be extended retroactively. The extension would bring in $1,200,000,000 in the next year and Eisenhower counted on that revenue in figuring his fiscal 1955 budget.

The finance committee began its secret sessions on the 875-page revision bill today and Chairman Millikin (R-Colo.) announced no interim reports would be released on progress.

Sources who told of some of the actions declined to be identified. The committee also reportedly

DeKalb Unit 1st in Patrol D. C. Parade

Clad in Confederate gray with yellow trappings, 489 Decatur and DeKalb County School Safety Patrol youngsters will lead a parade of 40,000 fellow patrolmen through the streets of Washington, D.C., Saturday morning.

The DeKalb group, whose trip is sponsored by the Decatur and DeKalb County police departments, will have the No. 1 position in the parade which will be a feature of the national convention of the safety patrols.

Highlights of the trip, which begins at 2:30 p.m. Friday when a special train will be boarded at Terminal Station, will include sight-seeing tours of Washington and New York and religious services in New York Sunday morning. Accompanied by a doctor and registered nurses, the youngsters will travel comfortably in dungees, "T" shirts and old shoes, reserving their "good" clothes for the trip's highlights.

A police officer and teacher will be in charge of each coach of 50 patrolmen. The group's arrival in Atlanta following the return trip is scheduled for 1 p.m. Monday. Officer M. P. Whitley, Mrs. Mary Wages and Mrs. Marie Knight will accompany the delegation.

Fred Bose Is Selected Civitan of '54

Fred Bose, Decatur businessman, was named Civitan of the Year by the Decatur Club Tuesday night and Emmett D. Rolston was installed as president at the annual Ladies' Night banquet held at the Avondale American Legion Club.

Dr. J. W. O. McKibben, former pastor of the Decatur First Methodist Church and now district superintendent of the Atlanta Northwest district, was guest speaker and installed the following new officers: Besides Rolston, they are Joseph U. McDow, vice president; W. E. Baker Jr., secretary-treasurer; C. D. Livsey, assistant secretary-treasurer; Reid Coker (retiring president), Cliff Moorhead, M. E. Bratcher, C. D. Livsey, and Louis Rosenbaum, board of directors; and Fred Bose, trustee in charge of nurses' aid fund.

Miss Jackie Taylor, senior at Decatur High School was awarded a $50 savings bond as winner of the club's annual essay contest. She won over 100 other students from seven high schools who submitted essays on "the privileges and duties of a citizen."

Miss Wynelle Still, Druid Hills High school student, was awarded a $25 savings bond as second-place winner in the same contest. Miss Taylor's paper will be entered in the state contest, the winner of which will be entered in a national contest. The prize is a college scholarship.

W. F. Tabor, program chairman, introduced Mrs. David Sinclair, who gave several humorous readings.

Red Cross Elects New Officers at May 13 Meeting

The DeKalb County Chapter of the American Red Cross will elect new officers and board members at its annual meeting at 7 p.m. May 13 in the Decatur First Christian Church.

Following a dinner served by canteen volunteers, Dr. Wallace Alston, president of Agnes Scott College, will speak.

Membership of the chapter is made up of those who have contributed a dollar or more to the Red Cross. However, officials urge the general public to attend the meeting regardless of contributions. Reservations for the dinner and meeting may be made by calling CRescent 3833.

DARs To Install New Officers at May Meeting

Mrs. Robert L. Paine, recently elected regent of the Baron DeKalb Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will be installed at the organization's May meeting.

Also to be installed and to serve with Mrs. Paine during the 1954-55 term are Mrs. J. L. R. Boyd, first vice regent; Mrs. John C. Poter, second vice regent; Mrs. Milton Scott, chaplain; Mrs. T. A. Branch Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Henry Robinson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. C. Allen, treasurer; Mrs. Thad Blackstock, registrar; Mrs. Byron Brooks, historian; Mrs. A. C. Golden, genealogist; Mrs. Carl Hudgins, parliamentarian; Mrs. A. E. Hendee, auditor, and Mrs. L. W. Morris, librarian.

Red Cross Slates Volunteer Classes On May 17, 25

Two orientation classes for volunteers who wish to work with the Red Cross have been scheduled by the DeKalb County chapter.

The first class for canteen volunteers, Grey Ladies and staff aides will be held at 7:30 p.m. May 17. The second meeting will be held at 10 a.m. May 25.

Retired U.S. Employees in DeKalb Elect

A chapter of the National Association of Retired Civil Employees has been organized in DeKalb County and will meet on the third Wednesday of each month at 2:30 p.m. in the Decatur City Hall.

Officers and charter members of the new organization, which is to be known as Chapter 280, are W. Bayne Gibson, president; Charles D. McKinney Sr., vice president; Warner L. Howlett, secretary; Hollister A. Thornton, treasurer; Elbert H. Chambers, Goldman H. Evans, Walter W. Fowler, Tracy S. Newton Sr. and Elkem S. Sellinger.

One purpose of the association, which is comprised nationally of 70,000 members of chapters in 135 centers throughout the 48 states, is to sponsor legislation before Congress on behalf of retired federal employees.

The new DeKalb County chapter is the third to be organized in this area, others being in Atlanta and East Point. Retired federal civil employees interested in joining the organization are urged to contact Gibson or Howlett. They also are invited to attend the regular monthly meeting.

Mrs. Traylor Awarded Garden Club's Tricolor

By BOB WILLIMON

An ingenious composition of vegetables and grass won for Mrs. Edward L. Traylor the Decatur Garden Club Assn.'s coveted tricolor ribbon for the best arrangement of the 1954 show.

In keeping with the "Daily Newspaper" theme set some months back by the association, Mrs. Traylor's exhibit interpreted the financial page. Other arrangements by DeKalb County's floral enthusiasts ranged from imaginative treatment of the editorial pages to interpretations of the comic strip.

STUDY CLUB

Winners besides Mrs. Traylor, who is associated with the Avondale Garden Club, included Mrs. Ralph Smith of the Garden Study Club and W. C. Lovejoy of the Glencrest Garden Club. Mrs. Smith received the tricolor award for the best specimen with a white peony, and Lovejoy took the sweepstakes for most points in specimen classes.

The Garden Division of the Decatur Woman's Club won the silver cup given by the Decatur Lions Club to the Decatur garden organization taking most blue ribbons. The Glenwood Hills Garden Club was awarded a silver tray given by Mrs. A. B. Lee to the DeKalb County organization winning the most blue ribbons.

WIN RIBBONS

Blue ribbon winners in arrangements at the show, which was held in the recreation center of the Decatur First Christian Church, were Mrs. W. K. Baker, Mrs. R. L. Klein, Mrs. Joe C. Low, Mrs. Harvey Britt and Mrs. F. R. Sanders of the Decatur club; Mrs. Edward Traylor of the Avondale club; Mrs. M. E. Milligan and Mrs. W. C. Jameson of the Glenwood Hills club; Mrs. C. A. Tennis Clinics Set at Glenlake

Two tennis clinics for teenagers and adults desiring to improve their game are scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. on the Saturdays of May 8 and 15 at Glenlake Park. The first of the clinics, which will be sponsored by the Decatur Recreation Department, is to be conducted by Malcolm Lockhart; the second by John T. Chambers. Both Lockhart and Chambers are tennis enthusiasts who are volunteering to share tennis pointers with fellow Decaturites and others interested.

'Y' Plans Four Summer Day Camps For Boys 6 to 14; 2 Others Possible

The Decatur-DeKalb branch, YMCA, will hold at least four day camps this summer, with a possibility of two more, Guy Rutland Sr., chairman of the "Y" camping committee, said Tuesday.

Camps will be held from June 21 to July 30 at Fernbank Forest, Glenlake Park in Decatur, the DeKalb Youth Camp in south DeKalb and Milam Park in Clarkston. The "Y" also is seeking to establish camps at Lithonia and Tucker, Rutland said.

The "Y" operated only camps at Fernbank and Glenlake last summer.

A. J. Chapman, who outlined details of the summer day-camp program, predicted there would be waiting lists at most of the camps. Last year, about 30 names were on lists at Fernbank and Glenlake, where registration was limited to 100 boys.

Three two-week periods will be open at each of the camps, and boys between the ages of 6 and 14 may register for as many periods as they wish, Chapman said. Hours at all the camps will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Raymond Bridges, an Atlanta school teacher with several years' experience in day camp work, will direct the Fernbank camp. Campers there will be transported to Decatur city pools for daily swimming periods.

School buses will take children from W. D. Thomson, Medlock and Druid Hills schools to the camp, which is located at 849 Clifton Road, N.E.

The day camp at Glenlake Park will be directed by Ed Whitset, an Atlanta football coach who has headed the camp for the past three years.

Thomas L. Clary Jr., baseball coach at Southwest DeKalb High School, will direct the day camp at the DeKalb Youth Camp on Columbia Drive south of Rainbow drive.

Buses will transport children to the camp from Bouldercrest, Wesley Chapel, Glenhaven, Hooper Alexander and Toney schools. The campers will swim at Misty Waters.

The Clarkston camp in Milam Park will be headed by Harold Roland, who has been program supervisor for Gra-Y clubs in DeKalb.

If the Tucker camp is approved, Chapman said, it will be held at the Tucker Community Park.

Civic Club To Meet

The Dearborn Park Civic Club will meet this Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Hooper Alexander School. The final phase of the street lights program will be discussed.

"Economy-Size Nash is Fast and Fancy" reports famed race driver, Wilbur Shaw, president of Indianapolis Motor Speedway, writing in April POPULAR SCIENCE MONTHLY. He writes:

"Been itching for the flair of a European automobile without giving up good old American comfort and flexibility?"

"If you're nodding 'yes' to all these questions, the car for you may be a new 42-horsepower fireball called the Nash Metropolitan. I found this economy-size package as solid as a little tank and scatty as a racer. . . . Close your eyes and this could be the biggest car on the road."

"A car the public helped design" (LIFE magazine) . . . "has top speed of 70 miles an hour . . . two-thirds the size of the standard American automobile, it will travel 40 miles on a gallon of gas."

Seniors Eye Graduation

Seniors at Northside and North Fulton high schools have begun a busy schedule of precommencement activities.

Graduation exercises for approximately 171 North Fulton seniors will be held May 24 at the City Auditorium. The next night, May 25, approximately 118 Northside seniors will receive their diplomas at the City Auditorium. Both exercises will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Jeanne Springer and Bill Baker will be student speakers at the Northside graduation. A member of the Board of Education will present diplomas.

Speakers for the North Fulton students will be chosen next week in an oratory contest among seniors who have a 90 or better scholastic average, according to Warren T. Jackson, principal.

Jackson will present the awards and prizes at the graduation. Mrs. Clifford N. Ragsdale, a member of the board of education, probably will present the diplomas, Jackson said. Miss Ira Jarrell, city school superintendent, will be mistress of ceremonies.

The Northside seniors were honored at the big social event of the year—the Junior-Senior dance—last week. May 20, they will hold their annual Senior Day picnic, and May 21 the annuals will be presented at a tea. At that time the students and faculty will learn to whom the yearbooks are dedicated.

The annual North Fulton Junior-Senior banquet will be held Friday at the Shrine Temple. The senior tea will be held at the school May 19 and the annual will be presented at that time.

Merchants of Buckhead To Handle Yuletide Lights

Buckhead's forward-looking Merchants Association has its sights set on Christmas street lighting.

On behalf of the organization's executive committee, Pres. Les Fraser has named Floyd Pike of Regenstein's as chairman of the committee to handle the arrangements, erection and collection of Christmas lighting equipment recently turned over to the association.

The Fifty Club, long-time sponsors of the community's Christmas street lighting, voted recently to transfer the program to the Merchants Association, feeling the latter would be more directly concerned.

The association also has extended an invitation to new merchants of the shopping center at Piedmont and Peachtree to become members; voted to buy stickers of their emblem for window display by members; appointed Jim Kelley of Sears, Roebuck & Co. to work with the American flag on special flag days; and referred to its traffic committee for discussion with city authorities the problem of overtime parking in the vicinity of the post office.

Mrs. John A. Copeland has been elected president of the Chastain Park Garden Club.

Other officers are Mrs. W. G. Furry, vice president, and Mrs. E. H. Sutter, secretary.

Ridgewood Chairman

Mrs. W. T. Crowe, new president of the Ridgewood Garden Club, has announced the chairman of all standing committees.

They are: Mrs. Jack P. Jordan, telephone; Mrs. Brents B. Thurmond, yearbook; Eugene Steinmann, program; Mrs. G. Woodward Perry, ways and means; Mrs. Edward B. Lamb, publicity and scrapbook; Mrs. Thomas Echols Jr., constitution and by-laws.

Minor Takes Sandy Springs Church Post

The Rev. Harold W. Minor has accepted a call to become the first pastor of the Mount Vernon Presbyterian Church, which was organized last Sunday.

The church, located on Mount Vernon Road in Sandy Springs, has about 100 charter members. It is the first church to be organized under the Plan of Expansion of the Presbyterian Officers' Association of Atlanta.

The association, composed of deacons and elders of the 40 Presbyterian churches in Metropolitan Atlanta, has undertaken to establish 10 new churches in the Atlanta area in the next 10 years.

A native of Atlanta, the Rev. Mr. Minor is a graduate of Emory University and Columbia Theological Seminary. He has served as pastor of the Lithonia and Smyrna Camp Ground Presbyterian Churches, and recently returned from a year's study toward a Ph.D. degree in church history at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

He is married to the former Louise Hoyt of Atlanta. They have two daughters, Louise, three years, and Margaret, 18 months old.

The Rev. Mr. Minor already is working with the congregation of the new church, but has not yet announced the date he will preach his first sermon there.

Officers of the church, four elders and six deacons, will be installed at a ceremony to be held the afternoon of May 16. Officers include: elders—P. D. Christian III and R. C. Watkins and deacons—A. L. Chason, R. H. Cording, W. B. Dean, S. T. Stendera, J. M. Williamson and J. H. McMillan.

Peachtree Road, Roswell and Trinity Presbyterian Churches are assisting in the organization and development of Mount Vernon Church.

A colonial-type residence located on the church's property six and a half acres on Mount Vernon Road about a quarter of a mile east of Roswell Road, is being remodeled to serve as the first sanctuary. Services are being held in the residence during the remodeling.

New Officers
The North Clairmont Women's Club held their regular meeting recently in the new clubhouse on Candler road and elected officers to serve for the coming year.

New officers are Mrs. Earl Duncan, president; Mrs. J. A. Creech, first vice president; Mrs. Jesse Outlar, second vice president; Mrs. Joseph Bennett, treasurer; Mrs. C. D. Haldean, recording secretary; Mrs. H. D. Capallo, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. E. W. Barnes, parliamentarian.

Nancy Creek Club

Mrs. Frank White was installed Tuesday as the new president of the Nancy Creek Garden Club.

Other officers installed with Mrs. White included Mrs. B. A. Bates, first vice president; Mrs. H. H. Hopkins, second vice president; Mrs. C. F. Johnson, secretary, and Mrs. Fred Rives, treasurer.

Emory Glee Club Will Present
Final Concert at Chastain Park

The Emory Glee Club, under the sponsorship of the Buckhead Civitan Club, will present the last concert of the year May 21 at Chastain Memorial Park amphitheatre.

Proceeds from the concert will be used to promote a number of the Civitan Club's favorite causes. They include aid for retarded children, Boy Scout troop at the Cerebral Palsy school, education scholarships and health and dental clinic.

In addition to the glee club, the concert will feature several numbers by the Northside Highlander Band, made up of elementary school students from five Northside schools.

The concert will begin at 8 p.m. and tickets may be obtained at Barnes Inc., 60 North Broad St., Jim Sale's Record Shop in Buckhead and by writing to the Buckhead Civitan Club, Box 353, Northside Branch postoffice, Atlanta.

Opposition to P. O. Merger Mounts As State's Congressmen Pledge Fight

Opposition to any merger of outlying post offices with the Atlanta Post Office grew last week.

Hapeville Mayor Eugene Dixon, outspoken opponent of the merger plan, said he had received letters from Gov. Talmadge, Fulton County Commissioners R. L. Doyal and Tom Camp, and Sens. Richard Russell and Walter George opposing any postal merger.

And in East Point, letters were received last week by the Chamber of Commerce from W. Roscoe Tucker, state Republican committeeman for Georgia; Rep. James C. Davis, and from Russell and George.

In his letter to the chamber—which recently passed a resolution opposing any merger that would interfere with East Point's postal services—Russell explained that although he has "strongly protested this contemplated action."

"In this Republican administration, the influence of a Democratic Mayor Eugene Dixon, Hapeville, is extremely limited in matters of this kind.

Tucker wrote that he had forwarded the organization's letter to the assistant postmaster general and added his own comment "to the effect that the closing or consolidation of the East Point Post Office would be very unpopular as well as injurious to its 30,000 patrons."

Davis, also an outspoken opponent of the postal survey on consolidating small offices with municipal units, said he is taking the matter up with the assistant postmaster general, who has full charge of postal operations.

Explaining that he has an agreement with the Post Office Dept. to the effect that no changes would be made in postal service in the Fifth Congressional District without his knowledge, Davis said:

In Hapeville, where the Chamber of Commerce has not declared itself either for or against the merger, chamber President Bob McCord Jr. explained the group would not take any steps "until we know the facts."

Meanwhile, Chamber of Commerce officials in East Point said nothing.

CHILDREN'S HOME

117 Equips Baptist Ball Team

Hapeville's Post No. 117 of the American Legion has donated $500 to the Georgia Baptist Children's Home to purchase athletic equipment for the home's baseball teams.

Ashton Russell, athletic director for the home, said the donation was made through the Legion's athletic committee, and was used to purchase complete uniforms, balls, bats and gloves for its 12-and-under and 15-and-under baseball teams.

Russell credited Harvey L. Peppers, chairman of the post athletic and finance committees, as being most instrumental in obtaining funds for the home.

At least $200 of the amount came from the pockets of two Legionnaires, Russell said. Norman Clayton and Pete Clay Sr. gave $100 each to add to $300 given by the post.

At almost the same time Russell said, the Ladies Auxiliary of Post 117 purchased a large electric clock and donated it for use in the Baptist Home's gymnasium.

East Point Home Site Study Set

East Point City Council has been asked to study further a recently approved ordinance regulating home construction, which some councilmen contend prohibits citizens from building homes in the city "where they please."

Council referred to an ordinance approved two weeks ago which requires that water and sanitary facilities be available near sites of proposed homes before building permits are issued.

Councilman Henry Blair, who introduced the ordinance, explained his intent was to give a prospective home builder knowledge of available facilities before he "invests in a home, gets it built, then finds he can't get water and sewerage disposal facilities for the home."

NO PREVENTAGE

Blair said he did not mean for the ordinance to prohibit anyone from building a home. Other councilmen pointed out, however, the measure would prohibit building of homes in areas which the city does not plan to serve where septic tanks or other sanitary facilities could be installed.

Council voted to have its ordinance and building committees study the intent of the measure and report back to council.

In other business, council voted to have a regular traffic light installed at the intersection of Cleveland avenue and Harris street, replacing the "stop-then-go" light now in use there. A petition signed by 100 citizens stated a traffic light was needed to protect school children.

MEETING VOTED

Council also voted to hold a meeting at the earliest possible date between the mayors of Atlanta and East Point, city attorneys and chairmen of the light and water committees, to work out final details of a contract for transfer of Ben Hill water mains to Atlanta. East Point recently sold the mains to Atlanta for more than $60,000.

SOUTH FULTON SCOUTS REFLECT HIS SKILL

Uncle Jack Rich in Indian Lore

When more than 350 south-Fulton Boy Scouts simultaneously performed for an Indian event during Saturday night's Scoutorama at Grant Field, it marked one of numerous accomplishments in the 34-year Scouting career of B. H. (Uncle Jack) Grantham of Hapeville.

Although Grantham credits success of the event to a "coordinated effort," Ben Moseley, commissioner for the South Fulton District of Boy Scouts, says Grantham was responsible for the success of the dance.

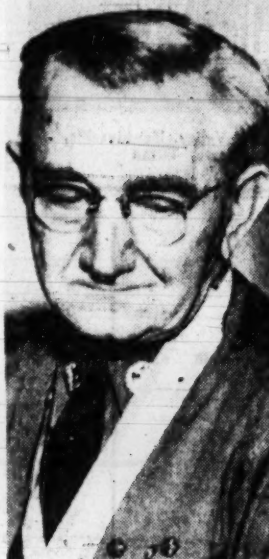

Moseley said Grantham had been in charge of the dances and props as well as director of the dance for the entire time it had been planned. Grantham and his students taught the dances to all 351 Scouts who performed.

Moseley said Grantham also merits praise for his "overall activities down through the years."

"We just wish we had more men like him in the Atlanta Area Council," he added.

Grantham, who retired in 1948 at the age of 60 after 33 years with the U.S. Post Office, first became interested in Boy Scouting about 1920 when his oldest son, Jack, then 12, joined a Scout troop. The elder Grantham now holds the highest rank given to a Scout official, that of Silver Beaver.

"I wanted to know what the boy was to be doing. I didn't even know then what Scouting was," Grantham confided.

East Point Lions To Model The Latest in Ladies' Wear

Dainty ladies' fashions—from revealing "shorty nightgowns" to afternoon tea dresses and evening wear—will be exhibited at a fashion show to be given at the East Point City Auditorium May 14.

The "models," however, won't be so dainty. They'll be the not-so-dainty male members of the East Point Lions Club.

The show, designed to be an all-out satire on fashion shows complete with ramps to permit full viewing of "models," is being given to raise funds to finance the club's charity projects.

Theme of the show, being directed by the club's activities committee, will be "A Vacation in Bermuda." Some 20 husky male models decked out in fashionable wigs and togs will perform.

With a narrator describing styles, the show will open with shorty nightgowns for early-rising young "misses," then exhibit play clothes, tennis shorts, bathing suits, afternoon light-weight suits, formal wear, tea dresses and wind up with evening wear.

The show won't be a masquerade such as one might find on Halloween, but a complete "satire" on fashion shows, Lions officials say. The show will start at 8 p.m. Admission is 75 cents for adults and 35 cents for children.

CLUB NOTES

E. P. Lions Will Hear Hamilton

State Treasurer George B. Hamilton will be guest speaker before the East Point Lions Club Thursday, May 13.

The club meets at 7:30 p.m. at the Sumner Park Recreation Center.

Hamilton has served as state treasurer since 1933. His present term of office expires in January, 1955. Hamilton also has served as state director of housing and is now a member of the State Housing Authority.

Gets President's Pin

Mrs. R. M. Brandon, new president of the Hapeville Music Club has been presented the pearl-studded president's pin signifying installation.

The pin was given to the club by the late Mrs. James Ira Lawson upon her retirement from the presidency to be passed on by each club president to her successor. Mrs. Brandon was presented the pin by Mrs. W. D. Pope, sister of Mrs. Lawson.

Telephone Lecture

Mrs. Joan Belvin of Southern Bell Telephone Co. will present a lecture demonstration on good telephone usage at 1 p.m. Thursday before the Hapeville Woman's Club, meeting at the Hapeville Methodist Church. Subject of the program will be, "Is Your Voice Really Yours?"

East Point Council Votes $1,332 in Andrews Claim

East Point City Council voted Monday to pay $1,332 in final claims for back salary and damages to Police Capt. Tom A. Andrews, who has been retired on a disability pension of $100 per month.

Thus council moved to end a problem that has bobbed up at every council meeting for months.

Dog Leash Ordinance Is Snubbed

A move to have a dog-leash ordinance drawn for College Park failed before City Council Monday as a motion offered by Councilman W. A. Gray failed to gain the necessary second for consideration.

Gray, long an advocate of leash laws, said yesterday council's refusal to authorize the city attorney to draw up such an ordinance would "bring these people down on council's necks in about a week."

Three or four children already are taking shots for rabies as a result of being bitten by roaming dogs, Gray said. Even a "half-way decent law would be better than none," he contended.

"If we pass any sort of law, the people will round up the dogs and get them off the streets," he added.

He said he wanted the law passed in order to let citizens in both the Fulton and Clayton county sections of the city know College Park wants dogs kept off its streets.

In other business, council received a bid for Rae N. Neville of College Park to operate the city swimming pool during the coming season. The city recently offered to furnish water and electricity to anyone who would lease the pool and operate it.

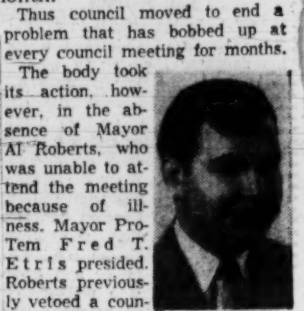

Neville's bid was referred to the city attorney and parks committee to "iron out" some details before any agreement was entered into with Neville, Mrs. Mary A. Hunt, city clerk, said.

Rabies Clinic Scheduled at College Park

College Park will hold its annual rabies inoculation clinic for dogs on May 15 at the College Park City Hall, Chief T. O. Smith announced.

Inoculations are an annual requirement for all College Park canines, Chief Smith explained. Citizens living in the Fulton County portion of the city must have county tags for their dogs, and residents of the Clayton County section should get state dog tags.

It is permissible, however, for dog-owners in Clayton to get Fulton dog tags, the chief pointed out. Time of the clinic has not definitely been set, but probably will run between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. A small charge will be made for the inoculations.

Mayor Roberts

Roberts previously vetoed a council action to pay the $1,020 in back salary to Andrews.

The money voted Andrews included salary from Nov. 15 through Feb. 15 of this year, when he officially left city employment, and payment of a $312 claim against the city for damages to the Andrews home resulting from the Nov. 2 shooting scrape between Andrews and fellow officers.

As a result of the incident, Andrews was indicted on eight counts of assault and battery, and suspended from the police force. Subsequently, a Fulton County jury ruled him innocent of the charges on grounds of insanity. A board of examiners at the State Mental Hospital, however, ruled Andrews was sane and apparently suffered from a "drug psychosis."

LOSERS POST
In addition, the city officially dismissed Andrews from the department on Feb. 15 for "inability" to perform police duties.

Andrews' attorney, Guy Parker, appealed the ruling.

Appearing before council Monday night, Andrews said he planned to accept the disability pension given him by the pension board, and added:

DRAFT PACT

Council, in voting to pay Andrews through Feb. 15, in effect set the date Andrews' pension will begin. The pension board voted to pay Andrews $100 per month disability pension on grounds he had suffered disabling injuries in motorcycle accidents while with the Police Department.

TRADITION UPSET

Stop Complaining Men, 'Some' Women Can Drive

Jean Sears, 17-year-old Russell High School senior, has done her bit toward upsetting the traditional male opinion about "women drivers."

For Jean, who recently won third place in the South Fulton Jaycees Teenage Roadshow, was the only girl to reach the state finals in the teenage driving competition.

HAW-HAWS BACKFIRE

The dozens of males competing against her gave the perennial "haw-haw, a woman driver" when she first showed up at the finals at Milledgeville last Wednesday, she confides, but as the contest neared the end, "they were all pulling for me."

And as for that male opinion about "women drivers," she says that's a lot of bunk.

Jean, who plans to enter the summer session of the University of Georgia after being graduated from Russell, first learned to drive two years ago. She picked up some driving experience on country roads of her native Wedowee, Ala., during vacations.

MODELING PLANS

But she never thought she'd be able to negotiate the complicated roadshow course problems.

"In fact I tried to back out of it when I saw it," she said. "I just don't know how I did it."

A majorette at Russell for three years, Jean recently placed as alternate runner-up in the "Miss Fire Prevention" beauty contest sponsored by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. She is a graduate of the Silhouette School of Modeling, and plans to do modeling as a sideline.

She will major in interior decorating at the University of Georgia.

And marriage? "Of course," she says, and maybe two later.

What did the male contestants think about her placing as a finalist in the driving competition?

"They just weren't expecting it," she said.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy A. Sears, she resides at 1928 DeLowe Dr., SW.

College Park Names Officials

For 3 Wards

Election managers and clerks have been named for three College Park wards by City Council for the $475,000 bond referendum on May 24.

The proposed bond issue to finance civic improvements includes $125,000 for a new city hall, $90,000 for a new police and fire station, $220,000 for two recreation centers and $40,000 for a new library.

Election managers and clerks and polling places are:

First Ward: Mrs. Dan Patrick, clerk; Mrs. Ralph Dodd, Mrs. E. M. Upshaw and J. D. Conley, managers, and W. C. Bateman, doorkeeper. Voting place, College Park Woman's Club.

Second Ward: Mrs. A. R. Hardegree, clerk; Mrs. J. E. Escott, Mrs. F. E. Nelson and Joe Lloyd, managers, and W. T. Wheeler, doorkeeper. Voting place, Fire Station.

Third Ward: Mrs. M. L. Simmons, clerk; Mrs. Sara Hutcherson, Mrs. W. H. McBrayer and Mrs. Billy Sams, managers. Voting place, Benjamin Neely School auditorium.

Flower Garden Will Replace Unsightly Plot

That "unsightly area" East Point merchants have been complaining about at the intersection of Church and Main streets soon will be replaced by a flower garden.

East Point City Council accepted an offer Monday night from the East Point Woman's Club and Forget-Me-Not Garden Club to beautify the triangular island—set up by the city divide traffic flow—by planting flowers in the area. The "beautified" triangle would be cared for by the East Point Parks Dept.

Council specified, however, that no shrubbery, be planted in the triangle, so that vision of approaching drivers might not be obscured by tall plants.

Brown Hi Grad Wins At Mercer

A Brown High girl who made all A's in her last five years of high school is still leading the class.

Soon to be graduate of Mercer University, this week she was awarded a Peabody-Vanderbilt fellowship for $1,200 on which she will do graduate work preparing her to teach.

She is Miss Carolyn McElveen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. McElveen of 664 Holderness Street, SW.

While at Brown, she was a member of the Beta Club, French, Y and International Relations clubs, a member of school paper staff, and the Bottle Chorus. At Mercer, she has been secretary-treasurer of the student government, a member of the Baptist Student Union council and staff of the student newspaper, and secretary of her sorority.

Carolyn graduates at Mercer this quarter.

Flags Given In Honor of Mrs. Wick

The Boulder Park American Legion Auxiliary 131 has presented two American Flags for display at the Young Women's Christian Association on Edgewood Avenue in honor of the late Mrs. Rachel Hollis Wick, who served with the Waves in World War II.

Mrs. Wick was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hollis, 766 Cascade Pl., SW.

Mrs. Coleman L. Martin, chairman of the auxiliary's Americanism committee and herself a veteran of World War II with the Women's Army Corps, made the presentation.

Auxiliary Asks Aid for Children

The Boulder Park American Legion Auxiliary 131 has appealed to Atlanta women to contribute used winter and summer clothing to be sent to Korean and Philippine children between the ages of seven and ten.

Also urgently needed are pencils, pens, ink, writing paper, chalk, paints and other school supplies for both countries.

Persons wishing to contribute to this drive may call Mrs. Vernon Stealy, AMherst 4363 or Mrs. Marvin Hoke at Belmont 2709.

Civic League Sets Meet

The Fourth Ward Civic League will hold its regular monthly meeting Monday night, May 10, at the Capitol View school, according to President J. T. Otwell.

W. Fulton Day Camps Open June 21

Two West Fulton YMCA day camps will open June 21 for three two-week periods at Adams Park and Perkerson Park.

Oswin Wadewitz of the Sylvan Hills High School athletic staff will direct the day camp at Perkerson Park and Bill Allison, "Y" secretary, will head the Adams Park camp.

A. D. Reynolds, chairman of the "Y" day camp committee, said Wadewitz is highly qualified as a camp director both through training and Christian convictions. He has been Sylvan High coach for four years and had charge of an extended program at Capitol View School two years ago.

Allison directed the Adams Park camp last year.

Allison has announced that 90

boys will register at Adams Park and 60 at Perkerson Park.

A boy may attend the camp of his choice, Allison said.

Each boy must furnish his own transportation to the camp each day, but "Y" officials will assist boys in forming car pools.

Minimum fees are charged for the three camp periods, which run from June 21 through July 31, and a boy may stay for one or all camp sessions.

Boys between 6 and 14 in the West End area are eligible to attend, and they are not required to be "Y" members.

Accident insurance is included in the camp fee, and each tribe of 12 boys will have a qualified leader.

Boys who wish to register for the camps should contact Bill Allison, West Fulton YMCA, 1471 Gordon St., SW.

Sylvan Hills High To Dedicate New Annex on Sunday

The new annex of Sylvan Hills High school will be dedicated at 3 p.m. Sunday with J. Austin Dilbeck presiding.

Dilbeck is chairman of the building and ground committee of the Atlanta Board of Education.

Speakers and guests will include D. F. McClatchey, chairman of Atlanta Board of Education; Franklin Rodgers, member of the board from the Fourth Ward; the Rev. Harris McMains, and Louis Gomez, president of the Sylvan High Student Council.

The Sylvan High band will furnish music. Refreshments will be served in the school cafeteria following the ceremonies. Members of the student council will be guides for tours of the new building.

The meeting, originally scheduled for May 10, was set back to avoid a conflict in time with a revival at the Beecher Hills Baptist Church.

Mrs. William Eaves will be co-hostess.

To Hear Mayor
Mayor William B. Hartsfield will speak to the West End Kiwanis Club Thursday at 12:30 p.m. Ten city department heads will be special guests.
